Francs and Cotton
Nature Rampageous
Bossing Mother Britannia
He Loves Switzerland

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

NOTHING can be done to stabilize the price of cotton: that would be economic sin against the sacred law of supply and demand." So you are told when you read, this morning, that Belgium wanted fifty millions from us to stabilize the Belgian franc, and stabilizing bonds "were gobbled up in less than half an hour after Wall Street offered them."

• • •

WHY a Belgian franc, made of paper, should be better security for American money than the cotton crop of America is for high finance to say. Belgium sold her $50,000,000 bonds in New York between 10 and 10:30 yesterday morning, at $96 for a $100 bond, so the buyer gets seven and a half per cent on his money and the bankers get their "rakeoff."

• • •

WE are all glad to help dear Belgium, or Mesopotamia, or King Feisal, but what a pity we cannot find a way to help the American cotton grower. He also has some claim on American sympathy. One trouble is that he is not able to offer usurious rates of interest.

• • •

IF you really love Belgium, you may find comfort in that word "usurious." When the time comes to pay those bonds, Belgium may truly say, "You practised usury on me. Your penalty for usury is loss of the principal. Let us see how you like it?"

• • •

ANY man, big financier or little pawnbroker, practising usury and selling it brotherly love deserves what he may get. And some of those now "gobbling up" usurious foreign bonds may not be so happy when the next little fuss comes in Europe.

• • •

RUSSIAN $100 bonds are now kicking around Wall Street at $14 apiece, and worth two cents a pound for old paper unless Russia can be blackmailed into paying them.

It might be wiser in the long run to invest in American cotton. The trouble is that the big fellows pass the bonds along to little investors, and they do the crying when the time comes for repudiation.

• • •

THE department of agriculture gets this notice from New Orleans: Many cotton planters are reporting that negro tenant farmers refuse to pick their own cotton on shares at present prices, that pay them no profit, and are moving from farms to cities, where they can work for wages.

That is something to interest our "better minds."

• • •

NATURE is worrying her children, all over the world, with high winds, earthquakes, tidal waves, electric storms. New York City and Paris, 4,000 miles apart, are swept by a hurricane in the same 24 hours ships are blown over at sea.

Yesterday violent storms were raging all over France, with heavy rain and snow.

Science tells you that the trouble comes from our sun, a giant magnet with electric storms and huge fiery upheavals, in which our earth would be lost like a snowflake in Vesuvius. That is no comfort, but let us consider what might be and be grateful.

• • •

THE British empire is having trouble with the free units that make up its "far flung" dominions. Britain says, "Our power protects you, so give preference to British trade." The Colonies are cold to that idea. South Africa demands the right to draw any color line it pleases, especially against Hindus that are British subjects. South Africa says Britain must not interfere, even if it is embarrassing.

The vigorous young sons are bossing their worried old mother Britannia.

• • •

MUSSOLINI says: "I love Switzerland, and she has nothing to fear from Italy ever." Switzerland says: "Much obliged," and continues to keep her word, every young Swiss taught to shoot, every able bodied man owning his rifle and ammunition and compelled to keep both in order.

The way to be safe is to be ready. So Switzerland knows that.

It would cost more to conquer Switzerland than the conquest would be worth.

Two million dollars' worth of airplanes, bombs and gas sent against this nation at the right time might collect two thousand millions of genuine dollars.

• • •

THE interstate commerce commission is considering regulations of motor bus traffic because it takes passengers from railroads. Next should come regulation of a man's right to use his own automobile, then a law compelling citizens over twenty-one to travel so many miles a year by rail, whether they want to or not.

What will the interstate commerce commission do when flying machines carry passengers across the continent in twenty-four hours for $25. That will come.

• • •

THE river Shannon will be harnessed to supply the Free State with power, and somebody will write a song about "the turbines of the Shannon." It will be less romantic than "The Banks of Shannon," but will mean more real comfort and happiness.

One hundred thousand horsepower will do more for Ireland than many songs—and she already has the songs.

LONE BANDIT HOLDS UP GROCERY

COOPER TO TALK AT RALLY HERE MONDAY NIGHT

Republican Candidate for Governor To Close Local Party Campaign

ANNOUNCEMENT SURPRISE

Rally Will Be Held in Star Auditorum; Large Crowd Expected

Myers Y. Cooper of Cincinnati, Republican candidate for governor, will give the closing speech of his campaign in Marion, Monday night. Announcement that this city would be the scene of the gubernatorial nominee's final address prior to election day was made today by B. J. Shelton, chairman of the Republican County Central Committee, following receipt of a telegram from state headquarters.

The meeting will be held at the Star auditorium, beginning at 7:30 o'clock and will be attended, it is anticipated, by party workers from all parts of Marion County and the surrounding territory, as well as several candidates for state office in addition to Mr. Cooper.

Announcement of plans for Mr. Cooper's address here came as a surprise to party leaders generally, as it has been previously stated that no general meetings in addition to the one addressed recently by United States Senator Fess and Robert A. Taft, speaker of the Ohio House of Representatives, would be here.

Hoped To Talk Here

Several weeks ago, however, Fred W. Warner of Marion, chairman of the State Central Committee, stated that Mr. Cooper hoped to speak here sometime during the campaign if his schedule could possibly be arranged to include Marion. This is taken to indicate that arrangements for the address here are in fulfillment of Mr. Cooper's personal wishes.

Whether there will be other speeches in addition to that of Mr. Cooper has not been decided. There is probability, however, that no other address of length will be delivered so that the candidate for governor may be given an opportunity to thoroughly discuss his candidacy and his views on the needs of state government.

MARTIAL LAW PREDICTED FOR WILLIAMSON COUNTY

Roadside Murder Followed by Burning of Four Roadhouses by Armed Men

Herrin, Ill., Oct. 28—Martial law for "bloody Williamson County" before the election next Tuesday was predicted today as a renewal of the feud warfare between the Birger and Shelton factions seemed imminent.

The roadside murder of two Birger henchmen Tuesday was followed today by the burning of four roadhouses between Johnson City and West Frankfort, a Birger stronghold, at the hands of three automobile loads of armed men.

Charles Birger and his men have gathered in force at one of their roadhouse headquarters while the Shelton faction is assembling at West City, about 20 miles north of Marion. Both sides are heavily armed and armored cars in evidence.

COOLIDGE HAS NO IDEA OF REAL PROSPERITY—WORK

Chicago, Oct. 28—Investigations are like rainstorms; they come and go. The Republican party has nothing to fear and will elect more United States senators this time than it expects," declared Secretary of the Interior Hubert Work today as he boarded a train for his home in Pueblo, Colo., where he will cast his vote Tuesday.

"The president's statement on the economic status of the United States was an under-estimate," he added.

"Mr. Coolidge has no idea of the actual prosperity that exists."

SCHOOL TEACHER VICTIM OF BRUTAL TOLEDO CLUBBER

Miss Lily Dale Croy.

IDENTITY OF CLUBBER NEAR, POLICE BELIEVE

Three Suspects Held While Rewards of $4,600 Are Posted in Toledo

Toledo, Oct. 28—Police here today expressed the belief that the fiend who has been responsible for the deaths of five women and attacks upon a half dozen others, will be identified within a few hours.

Stimulated by the rewards, totalling $4,600, detectives and others have succeeded in arresting three persons whose actions have been suspicious and whose movements were vague. Of these, one is known to be an imbecile.

Yesterday, the first bit of evidence in connection with the clubber's crimes was discovered when a janitor found an iron bar, smeared with human blood and hair, in an ash heap near the spot where Miss Lily Croy, 26, school teacher, became the brute's fourth victim Tuesday.

Toledo was a brilliant city last night. At the suggestion of Chief of Police Jennings, porch lights were kept burning throughout the night. Every available policeman patrolled the fashionable southwest section where the clubber has swooped from ambush upon his victims.

The police official has asked private citizens to go unarmed, fearing that the acute nervousness of the community might result in the accidental killing of innocent persons.

The American Legion has offered the services of 200 sharpshooters for night patrol, but these have not yet been ordered out.

CONFESSES TO KILLING FRANKLIN PATROLMAN

Charles Garrison Pleads Guilty During Trial; Gets Life Sentence

Lebanon, Oct. 28—Charles Garrison, 22, of Franklin, charged with the murder of James Benge, merchant policeman, on the morning of March 21, when Benge detected Garrison and his brother, Ernest, robbing the Thorker department store at Franklin, pleaded guilty Wednesday afternoon to the charge of murder on three indictments.

Difficulty in empaneling a jury has delayed the hearing since Monday and it was while noon recess was held Wednesday that attorneys for the defense consulted and when court reconvened sprung the greatest surprise in the history of the Warren County court as they entered a plea of guilty to all three indictments in behalf of their client.

Judge Wright pronounced sentence of life at hard labor at the state penitentiary with absolutely no possibility of pardon or parole.

Trial of Ernest Garrison, brother of the confessed murderer, also similarly charged, will start on Nov. 15.

CRISIS IN CONDITION OF HOUDINI EXPECTED TODAY

Detroit, Oct. 28—Harry Houdini, magician, who is seriously ill at Grace Hospital, is showing gradual improvement, it was stated today. The crisis, however, is expected tonight, the fourth day following his operation for appendicitis, with resultant peritonitis.

Physicians explained that it usually takes four days after such an operation for the poisons to spread throughout the body.

Mrs. Houdini and her niece, Miss Julia Sawyer, are ill from worry over the magician. Both women are confined to their beds in a local hotel.

CAR RUNS AWAY, KILLING MAN, INJURING SEVEN

Two May Die of Hurts; Score of Others Suffer Slight Injuries

CRASHES THROUGH STORE

Trolley Skids on Slippery Rails of Steep Grade at Terrific Speed

Wheeling, W. Va., Oct. 28—One man was killed, seven persons were severely injured, two of whom may die, and a score of other passengers suffered slight injuries when a street car operating to Mozart Park ran away on a steep grade at the foot of the long hill and crashed through a store as it failed to negotiate a turn, early this morning.

Frank S. Eberlein, 65, motorman on the car, was dead when extricated from the wrecked vestibule. Joseph Gans, 46, conductor, suffered a broken leg and internal injuries. He is not expected to live. George Rempke, 50, a passenger, also suffered internal injuries and may die.

The trolley, carrying many to work, had slipped and skidded several times going down the hill. A heavy fog is believed to have made the rails slippery. As it struck the last steep grade, the car gathered momentum, careened as it swung around a sharp curve and then darted down the last 200 yards, a straight-away stretch of track.

Traveling at terrific speed, it dashed across a bridge, hit the last turn toward the level road, reared on its side and crashed all the way through the Leo Peck grocery store, burying the vestibule of the car in the hill at the back of the store.

24,303 OF VOTING AGE IN COUNTY, POLL DISCLOSES

16,692 Reside in City and 7,611 in Villages and Rural Districts

There are 24,303 persons of voting age in Marion County, according to a poll completed Wednesday by the Republican County Central Committee under the direction of the chairman, B. J. Shelton. This is an increase of 223 over the poll taken in 1924.

Of the total voting population, 16,692 reside in the city of Marion and 7,611 in the villages and rural district. The total for the city has increased 314 since two years ago while that of the rural district and villages fell off 91.

The voting population is considerably larger than the number of ballots actually cast at elections, records show. The Republican roll includes approximately 3,000 persons who do not designate any party preference and who are consequently listed as "doubtful". Included in this number, it is believed, are most of the voters who have not registered and consequently will not be eligible to vote next Tuesday. The number of unregistered voters is estimated at about 2,500.

The poll, it is stated, showed that there is a Republican majority of substantial proportions in the county.

SHEPHERD WINS FIGHT IN M'CLINTOCK ESTATE

State Supreme Court Affirms Verdict Admitting Will to Probate

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 28—William D. Shepherd of Chicago today won an important point in his fight for possession of the million-dollar estate of "Billy" McClintock when the State Supreme Court affirmed the verdict of the Cook County Circuit Court, admitting McClintock's will to probate.

The court ruled that alleged undue influence in the drawing of a will is grounds for a contest but not for preventing its filing for probate.

The decision throws the case back into the Chicago courts where a contest is probable as soon as it has been filed.

"Billy" McClintock died at Shepherd's home in Chicago following which Shepherd was tried and acquitted of poisoning the youth. Following "Billy's" death, Shepherd produced a will which left the million-dollar estate entirely to Shepherd with the exception of an $8,000 annuity to Isabelle Pope, "Billy's" fiancee. McClintock also is survived by 10 cousins.

The heirs claimed that Shepherd unduly influenced making of the will and when Shepherd presented it for probate in Cook County, Judge Henry Horner refused to probate it.

DEATH LIST OF QUAKE MAY MOUNT TO 1,000

MYSTERY SURROUNDS SLAYING OF FAMILY.

When five members of the family of W. O. Potter, former United States district attorney, were found dead in his home at Marion, Ill., and his lifeless body was found in a cistern, a coroner's jury decided he had slain the family and then committed suicide. But State's Attorney Arlie O. Boswell, following an examination of the evidence, set aside the verdict and declared that Potter, as well as his family, had been murdered. It was assumed at first that Potter had been driven insane by financial worries. All except Potter were killed with a heavy iron furnace shaker. Bodies of Mrs. Myrtle Potter, 52, and daughter, Eloise, 16, and Phyllis, 4, and Cynthia White, three weeks, grandchildren, were in one room; and that of Mrs. Gilbert White, a daughter, in the bathroom. Maurice, Potter's only son, made the discovery on his return from a dance.

Elopement of Girl, 13, and Youth, 19, Comes to End in Marion With Their Arrest

Man Given Indeterminate Sentence in Mansfield Reformatory After Pleading Guilty Before Judge McNeal; Girl Held at Detention Home

The elopement of a 13 year old girl and her 19 year old sweetheart, which occurred at their home town, Warsaw, N. Y., on Aug. 5 and was followed by a devious journey covering hundreds of miles through several states as far south as Virginia, came to an end in Marion, Wednesday night, when the two wanderers were placed under arrest at the Commercial Hotel, 263½ N. Main st, where they had registered as man and wife.

The runaways came to grief as a consequence of having made the mistake of asking a policeman to direct them to the location of the hotel. The officer, Ira Shreck, had his suspicions aroused by the youthful appearance of the girl and decided to make an investigation. The couple were arrested shortly before midnight by Shreck and Officer McColley and taken to police headquarters.

Pleads Guilty

Today the man, Merral Madison, pleaded guilty before L. B. McNeal, judge of the county Juvenile court, to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor term in the Mansfield Reformatory. The girl is being held at the Juvenile Detention Home, 182 Wallace st and will probably be sent to the Girls' Industrial School at Delaware.

A letter, written by the girl to Long Mackookey, a former sweetheart living near Candor, N. Y., but for some reason never mailed, is an interesting exhibit in the case. It was written at Charleston, W. Va., one of the youthful pair's numerous stopping places on their journey, on Oct. 5. Officers found it in making a search of the couple's room at the Commercial Hotel.

Neatly Written

Neatly written and well worded with comparatively few mistakes in grammar, the letter seems to provide evidence that the girl is more than ordinarily intelligent for one of her years. It also indicates that her waywardness is largely a result of a perverted viewpoint on the privileges of

Because of a previous balance in current funds, a surplus of $9,725.51 was indicated.

M'DERMOTT HAS NOT CONFESSED, SAYS SLATER

Alleged "Key Man" Refuses To Divulge Who Killed Don R. Mellett

Canton, Oct. 28—"Pat McDermott has not confessed."

Despite all reports to the contrary, the alleged "trigger man" in the slaying of Don R. Mellett on the morning of July 16, has not divulged who killed Mellett or under what circumstances the crime was committed.

This was the flat statement made to International News Service by Prosecutor C. B. McClintock and Ora Slater, Ohio's detective ace.

They also issued the following statement over their signatures:

"Pat McDermott has not confessed. He has, however, given some important information which can not be divulged at this time. We are, however, making satisfactory progress.

(Signed) "C. B. McClintock,
"Ora Slater."

Aroused to indignation over the false reports being disseminated that McDermott has confessed and incriminated Ben Rudner and Louis Mazer, both indicted on charges of first degree murder as a result of the Mellett slaying, together with an unnamed former member of the Canton police department, Slater and McClintock called International News Service correspondent into their office and asked that the statement that such reports were absolutely untrue, be published.

"Publications of false reports of this sort obstructed the course of justice and hinder us in our investigation," McClintock said. "We seem to have McDermott on the verge of talking and then by some grapevine intelligence system he learns of these stories and refuses to hold any further conversation, claiming that we are proving untrue to his confidences."

Hopeful For Story

Both investigators are hopeful of getting McDermott to tell his whole story within the next 24 hours.

Discovery of the location of his hideaway in Cleveland, through information received by Slater, has materially strengthened the probe.

Evidence which may be lead to the discovery of the higher-ups back of the Mellett murder will be forthcoming when investigators ascertain the identity of the person who signed the check for $50 which Pat used to pay the rent for the apartment where he was hiding.

Slater is tracing the person who signature is attached to the check and hopes that within a few hours he will be able to name at least one of the group of men who instigated the murder.

This check, according to John Erickson, a janitor and caretaker of the apartment where McDermott stayed, was in his belief drawn on a branch of the Union Trust Co. of Cleveland. Police and bank officials are checking back in an effort to learn the identity of the signor.

Legal battle took the stage today and the possible confession of McDermott passed temporarily into the wings, as Ed. L. Mills, Canton attorney for Pea

AGED MAN DIES AFTER CLOTHES CATCH FIRE

Galion, Oct. 28—Samuel Leaply, 75, died at his home one and one-half miles northwest of here early this morning from burns received when his clothing caught fire from a stove.

At the time, the aged man was the only person in the house, other members of the family being outside at work. He was quickly suffocated and his feeble cries for help went unnoticed. He was nearly dead when found and succumbed before a Galion physician could arrive at the scene. The body was horribly burned. Funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

The flames were extinguished before damage was done to the house.

$250 TAKEN BY UNMASKED MAN AT RODERICK'S

Enters Davids-St Store When Clerk Is Alone; Demands Receipts at Point of Gun

SCOOPS UP BILLS

Police Throw Out Net in City and Surrounding Towns' Escapes in Auto

Roderick's Grocery, 409 Davids-st was held up and robbed of between $250 and $300 in cash at about 2 o'clock this afternoon, by a lone, unmasked bandit, who made good his escape and is now being sought in every section of the city and in surrounding towns by the local police force.

Information coming from the proprietor of the store, F. E. Roderick gave the description of the bandit as being a man of about 25 years of age, dressed in a gray suit, wearing a gray hat and driving a large automobile.

Troy Wolfe, 18, of 440½ Davids-st clerk at the grocery, was the only person in the store at the time of the robbery. He said that the bandit entered the place at a time when no customers were present and started a conversation by inquiring the location of another nearby grocery. He suddenly placed the point of a gun against Wolfe's ribs and ordered him to "put 'em up and keep still."

Forcing him to a place near the cash drawer he told Wolfe to open the drawer and give him the contents. Wolfe refused and the bandit then opened the drawer and scooping up the bills remarked, "You may have the change, I'm beating it and you stay in here until I get away or" and he was gone.

Rushing to the door, Wolfe watched the holdup man start driving away at a high rate of speed. The car was headed south and parked a 100 feet or more from the store front. The bandit turned east on Hermans at a block away and disappeared. Two women also witnessed his departure. Neither of Wolfe were able to tell the make of his car or the license number.

The loot, according to Roderick consisted for the most part of bills of $1, $5 and $20 denomination. He was not able to give the exact amount of the stolen money and still was checking up the loss at press time. Police were notified immediately by Wolfe and a net spread for the fleeing bandit.

BURNING LEAVES ON STREETS PROHIBITED

Citizens Asked To Observe Stipulation of Local Ordinance

With trees throughout the city starting to shed their foliage as a result of the arrival of fall weather, Mayor Earl M. Hazen and Service Director O. A. Benedict today issued their annual announcement that burning of leaves on paved streets is strictly prohibited under the provisions of an ordinance adopted here a number of years ago. Enforcement of this ordinance is imperative in order to protect the pavements against damage and to eliminate unnecessary fire hazards, these officials state. It is also pointed out that burning of leaves on public thoroughfares creates serious inconvenience and danger for autoists.

Leaves should be raked into piles on the streets, from where they will be hauled away by trucks sent out by the Service Department, Mr. Benedict said today.

ASTRONOMER SEES MORE BAD STORMS

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 28—Further weather excesses and catastrophes, such as the Florida hurricane and the mid-western floods were predicted today by C. M. Coomer, San Diego, astronomer, who based his prophecy upon the appearance of a new and great sun spot, discernible here recently on the rim of the blazing sphere.

"The new spot is swinging toward us as the sun rotates," Coomer said. "It will soon be felt along with the eight other spots now bubbling on the side nearest the earth. This group of spots is unusually large, being strung out over a 300,000 mile breadth on the sun's surface."

DEPARTMENT LEARNS HOW TO BLEND ROSES, TEA

Details Received from Far East by Commerce Bureau at Capital

Washington, Oct. 28.—Roses are extensively used in China for scenting tea leaves.

Details of this method of blending what is described as a delightfully aromatic beverage have been received from Far Eastern representatives by the department of commerce.

Flowers are sometimes added to the boiling water when preparing tea as a drink, while tea vendors often mix particles or rose petals with green tea leaves. When fine tea drinks are prepared for guests, one or two dried flowers are placed in each cup.

As a consequence the rose is among the most popular flowers in China.

Many other uses are found for the flower. In the making of candy and sweetmeats, confectioners and bakers frequently add a mixture of roses pounded into a pulpy mass.

The flower likewise is used in the production of home-made wines, roses being placed into boiling wine, sugar candy added, and the wine bottled. After several months the wine has a strong rose flavor, very popular with Chinese ladies.

"Roses are produced in various parts of China, but the best are grown in the province of Kiangsu, in Soochow," said a statement to the department.

"Every year, great quantities are collected and sold. The cultivators supply their products wholesale to candy and cake makers and tea vendors."

Many gardners annually plant rose trees by hundred and thousands. In spring, when the rose begins to flower, the buds are picked and sold to tea rose collectors. There is a French Flower Guild, located at Ste Tone Chich. Lecture sooths are widely exchanged with the florists for rose buds.

16,000 Men Get Increase

Approximately 16,000 men have been benefited by the wage increase of 3 cents an hour, negotiated recently by the New York Central Lines for their Federated Shop Crafts.

Dividend Boosted

Directors of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, acting on the recommendation of Pres. Daniel Willard, have increased the dividend on common stock from five to six per cent.

In addition, the board has authorized an increase of approximately 50 per cent in pensions paid old employes. The B. & O. has lagged behind in the matter of pension, largely because of financial difficulties which beset it for many years, and this increase will bring it among the leaders.

The increase is said to be approximately $292,000 a year.

Prince Breaks Away from Royal Party in Toronto and Has Fling All His Own

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 28—(Aboard Queen Marie's Special Train)—Facing her most strenuous program of entertainment since coming to America, Queen Marie, of Roumania, arrived in the Canadian capital today.

It was the royal party's last day in the east before penetrating the scenic wonders of the west tomorrow with a 1200-mile railroad "hop" to Winnipeg.

Queen Marie, Princess Ileana and Prince Nicholas awakened in excellent spirits. The prince, usually nervously bored, wore a smile as broad as the "wide open spaces" ahead of him. His youthful energy smothered beneath a never-ending wave of formal entertainments, the potential heir to the Roumanian throne had his fling in Toronto and was happy. It was not much of a fling merely an escape from the worshipping multitude to visit places and things he wanted to see, alone or nearly so.

"I am tired of high hats," exploded the prince, "I have seen the best tables on the United States and Canada but nothing else."

Prince Nicholas likes the mechanical toys of civilization such as railroads. He explored the operation of the Canadian National Railway terminal like a child at his first kindergarten class.

So Nicholas grinned today. There was an added reason. His royal mother surprised him by not scolding him for his sudden dropping out of the royal itinerary. But then, it is no secret to those in the "royal know" that her majesty would like to do the very same thing as her son and steal away to see life outside the reception hall.

Sparkling uniforms, old world speeches of welcome in a new world atmosphere, martial music and rolling drums made a welcome fit for a queen.

Prince Nicholas is due to be entertained this afternoon at a stage luncheon at government house by the governor general.

Girl Gained 7 Pounds Nine Years an Invalid

That's just what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for the Rideout Girl—and is doing as much for tens of thousand of thin, underweight, weak and discouraged people all over America.

These sugar coated pleasant to take tablets should be given to children instead of the vile stomach upsetting oil itself—they surely do help the frail, delicate little ones and 60 tablets cost but 60 cents at Bradley's Drug Store, Hemrick & Cooper's or any druggists.

Read this letter if you have a child that needs to gain health and strength:

"My little girl was stricken with infantile paralysis when she was 5 months old and was an invalid for 9 years when I saw an ad in the paper that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets would build up wasted tissues. I bought a box and she gained very slowly at first and after taking eight boxes, she gained seven pounds. Thanks to McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, after trying almost everything else on the market, she is on the road to recovery and goes to school every day." Mrs. L. Babcock, Appleton, Wis.

Insist on McCoy's, the original and genuine, and if after thirty days' treatment you are not delighted with results—why get your money back.—Ade.

LENA SECRIST FILES REPLY TO RAIL ANSWERS

Widow of Accident Victim Says Railroads Responsible for Husband's Death

Lena Secrist, 452 Blaine-av, as administratrix of the estate of her husband, William B. Secrist, who met his death several months ago while at work on the Erie Railroad, today filed a reply to the answers of the Erie and Big Four Railroads in her $15,000 damage suit against them.

Mrs. Secrist a few months ago filed the damage suit against the Big Four and Erie Railroads, stating that they were responsible for the death of her husband. Secrist is said to have been at work for the Erie Railroad and was struck by a Big Four train which was using Erie tracks.

The railroad companies filed an answer three weeks ago claiming that Secrist met his death because of his own negligence and carelessness in not observing the oncoming locomotive. In her answer today, Mrs. Secrist denied that her husband was careless and replied that the railroads were responsible.

SELF-DEFENSE COLORED MAN'S PLEA TO MAYOR

Richard McKinney, 28, Bound Over to Grand Jury Under $2,500 Bond

[illegible] is the plea of Richard [illegible]ney, 28, held for the shooting [illegible] Johnson, 25, which occurred [illegible] Sunday night in the poolroom [illegible] LaVette at 690 Hocking-st. [illegible]Kinney, who pleaded not guilty to [illegible] charge of shooting with intent to [illegible] was arraigned before Mayor M. [illegible] Wednesday afternoon, says that [illegible] on Johnson when he saw [illegible] preparing to draw a knife [illegible] pocket. McKinney was bound [illegible] the grand jury on a $2,500 [illegible] and being unable to furnish the [illegible] was placed in the county jail.

A charge of illegal possession of [illegible] was also filed against McKinney. He pleaded not guilty but after [illegible]ring before Mayor Hazen was [illegible]nd and fined $500 and costs. He [illegible] unable to settle and will be required to serve time for this offense, [illegible] the fine remains unpaid.

A trunk containing several bottles of [illegible] liquor and a case of empty bottles apparently intended for use in the sale of intoxicants was found at the Iroquois Hotel, operated by McKinney at 184 S[illegible]-st, police state. McKinney's place had been searched on several former occasions but no liquor was ever discovered until Tuesday night.

Chief Files Affidavit

Both affidavits against McKinney were filed by Chief of Police J. W. Thompson.

The primary cause of the shooting, according to police reports, was rivalry between the two men over the affections of Mrs. Ruth Wilson, 22, who resides at McKinney's Iroquois Hotel. All parties involved are colored and the shooting occurred in the city's West Side negro settlement.

Johnson, who was employed as a car washer at the Chevrolet garage on S. Main-st, is in the City Hospital with a bullet in his body, one of the five shots fired by McKinney having entered his left side at the hip and lodged in the right side of his abdomen. He is expected to recover.

Woman Held

Mrs. Wilson was arrested with McKinney and is held at the county jail as a materiel witness. She was taken into custody on two former occasions during the last few months on charges of disorderly conduct, police records show.

McKinney, in his story of the trouble related to Chief of Police Thompson and City Solicitor Grant E. Mouser, Jr., Wednesday, said that the controversy started last Saturday night when Johnson came to him with a request for some liquor, saying that Mrs. Wilson had informed him that McKinney had a supply. Mrs. Wilson denied having made the statement and it was this which formed the basis of the argument between the two men, McKinney says.

Met in Restaurant

They met in a restaurant adjoining the La Vette pool-room and Johnson threatened him with a knife, McKinney alleges. McKinney then went to his hotel, armed himself with two revolvers and returning, met Johnson in the pool-room. When Johnson made a move to draw his knife, McKinney relates, he opened fire with his revolver.

Johnson denies having had a knife in his possession and asserts that McKinney attacked him without provocation. According to his story, the trouble was entirely due to rivalry over Mrs. Wilson.

modern young people and an inordinate desire for romance and adventure.

Machoskey, according to the letter, which filled six closely written pages, was a suitor for the girl's affections up until the time that she started out on her adventure with Madison. She expresses the hope that Machoskey has not suffered intense heart pangs as a consequence of being forsaken and that he will be able to find another girl worthy of him. Throughout the missive, the girl refers to Madison as "my husband," and declares that she loved him devotedly.

"Reading History"

"I am reading 'The History of the American Frontier,' by Frederic L. Paxon. Do you regard him as a wonderful author?" the girl wrote, adding that she had finished reading another book descriptive of historic events in the West.

As evidence that the girl is thoroughly up-to-date in her habits, she informs her former lover that she was smoking "Lucky Strikes," but admitted that "Camels" are an excellent brand of cigaret.

The couple, according to the letter, had planned going to Florida, but changed their plans and started back north at Lynchburg, W. Va.

Everything went smoothly until their arrival in Marion. While the police had them under observation here they quarreled and Madison was preparing to desert the girl, he admitted, when they were taken into custody. Preparatory to the separation he had given her $1 and retained $2.25 for himself, this constituting all of the funds in their possession.

Register at Hotel

After registering at the Commercial Hotel as Mr. and Mrs. C. Young of Charleston, W. Va., the couple attended a picture show and it was there that the quarrel took place. The girl returned to the hotel alone and Madison might have eluded the officers had he not forgotten something at the room and came back to obtain it.

Madison, who says that he is a printer, baker and garage mechanic and obtained employment in these lines to finance the trip, made a complete confession, telling of the elopement in detail.

Sells Cars

As evidence that he was a rather poor business man, Madison said that he and the girl started out from Warsaw, N. Y., in an Oakland automobile he had purchased with a small down payment, giving a mortgage for the balance, sold the car at Gauley Bridge, W. Va., for $25 and purchased a Ford roadster for $20 and on arriving in Marion, Wednesday afternoon, disposed of the Ford to the Marion Iron & Metal Co. for $8.

The itinerary of the couple took them first to Buffalo, where they were joined by another couple who accompanied them to Limersburg, Pa. Other stopping places were several towns in Maryland, Fisherville, Va., Lynchburg, Va., Charleston, W. Va., and Mt. Gilead, O.

ADVERTISING GIVEN PRAISE BY PRESIDENT

Address Given at Convention of American Association Agencies

Washington, Oct. 28.—"It seems to me probable that of all our economic life the element on which we are inclined to place too low an estimate is advertising."

Those were the words of President Calvin Coolidge in addressing the convention of the American Association of Advertising Agencies at Washington yesterday.

The American people have ceased to fear great combinations of wealth and are learning to make these their servants, the president declared. His only refrence to political affairs was a passing remark regarding indifference to public affairs. Dwelling principally on the great factor advertising has been in the industrial development of the country. Advertising, rather than competition, is now the life of business, he said.

"Wages are high while profits have been moderate," the president said. "That means the results of prosperity are going more and more into the homes of the land and less into enrichment of the few. If this were not so, this country could not support 20,000,000 automobiles, purchase so many radios, and install so many telephones.

The president said that with the present system of banking and the enormous capacity for consumption, fluctuations would be less violent and unlikely to sink to the level of depression.

"Our chief warrant for faith in the future of America lies in the character of the American people," he continued. The future of our country is not to be determined by material resources, but by the spiritual life of the people.

PAT M'DERMOTT

Rudner and Louis Mazer, facing trial with McDermott on first degree murder indictment, prepared to face Prosecutor C. M. McClintock before Judge A. W. Agler today in a contest to decide whether Mills will be permitted to interview McDermott.

Mills today asks to see McDermott on the grounds that the latter is a witness material to Mazer's defense and that he had expressed a desire to talk to the attorney, who upon presenting himself at the Canton workhouse in answer to the alleged request was barred from entering by Superintendent John Boyer.

Predict Defeat

Charging that refusal to permit him, Mills to enter to McDermott's cell is a violation of both state and federal constitutional provisions guaranteeing the defendant a fair trial, Mills asserted that unless the defense are permitted to talk with McDermott, they will be unable to prepare their case for Nov. 8, the date set for the trial of Mazer.

Prediction of defeat of the motion by Judge Agler, who overruled Mills' motion, presented Tuesday, that he be permitted to see McDermott, because the latter so desired, was freely made by Canton attorneys.

Filing of this motion marked the fifth attempt instigated by defense attorneys to gain success to witnesses held incommunicado by the prosecution. The four previous attempts were:

First—Motion to take depositions in the civil suit in federal court of Florence F. Mellett, widow of the slain publisher, against the three indicted. Blocked by withdrawal of the suit.

Second—Motion to take depositions in the libel suit of Louis Mazer against the Canton Daily News. Halted by a temporary injunction issued by Judge Charles Kriechbaum.

Third—Motion to take depositions of Steve Kaschalk, alleged informer and Peggy Cavanaugh, Pat's sweetheart. Denied by Judge D. W. Diehl.

Fourth—Motion to interview McDermott as his attorney. Denied by Judge Agler.

"I will be on hand to fight to the finish any effort to reach McDermott or any of our witnesses," McClintock said when informed of Mills' move. "This new motion is merely another attempt of the defense to get to McDermott and shut him off before he tells his story."

Slater and McClintock were to question McDermott again some time today, they announced.

That some type of success crowned their efforts yesterday was evidenced by both investigators, although they have asked newspapermen to refrain from divulging any vital information which may be obtained in these interviews with Pat.

EXAMINE ARTICLES SEIZED IN FLAT

Cleveland, Oct. 28.—Cleveland police today were examining articles seized in the "luxurious apartment" occupied by Pat McDermott, central figure in the Mellett murder case at Canton, during his three months in hiding here.

Acting upon a tip from Ora Slater, Mellett case detective, Detective Inspector Cornelius Cody and a squad of men raided the apartment, which turned out to be a modestly furnished four-room flat at 10,414 Barrett-av, on the east side. They found clothing with McDermott's laundry mark, and other articles which may reveal evidence invaluable in the Mellett investigation.

McDermott, they learned, lived in the place with a companion described by neighbors as "a black-haired man." The latter came and went frequently from the apartment, but McDermott kept closely inside, except at night, they said.

A woman visited the apartment on one occasion, neighbors said, and police found a woman's undergarment in the place.

A squad of detectives, headed by Captain Emmett Potts and Inspector C. W. Cody, today resumed the search for another apartment, believed to have been occupied by McDermott and his "dark-haired" companion after they moved from the first apartment.

The latest place occupied by the two men was believed to have been located on Klusmann-rd, according to information furnished by the detectives by McDermott's brother.

OFFERS MRS. MELLETT REWARD OF $5,000

Nanty Glo., Pa., Oct. 28.—A letter from Thomas J. McDermott, brother of Patrick McDermott, so-called key figure in the Don R. Mellett murder, to Mrs. Mellett, widow of the Canton publisher, offering her the $5,000 reward he was entitled to receive for Pat's capture was in the mails today, Thomas McDermott said at his home here.

The letter, addressed to Mrs. Mellet in care of the Canton News, asked her to accept the money, "if not for yourself, for the education of the children of Don R. Mellett," and expressed the sympathy of the McDermott family for the widow.

MRS. MELLETT HAS NOT RECEIVED NOTE

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 28.—Mrs. Don R. Mellett, widow of the slain Canton, Ohio, publisher, today stated she had received no offer from a brother of Pat McDermott to accept the $5,000 reward he was entitled to receive for McDermott's return, to assist in the education of her children, as had been reported.

Mrs. Mellett said that the letter may be in the mails, but as yet, she had received no such word.

NO REWARD OFFERED, SAYS M'CLINTOCK

Canton, Oct. 28.—No reward for the apprehension of Pat McDermott, alleged "trigger man" in the Mellett slaying was offered, Prosecutor C. M. McClintock announced today, upon receipt from International News Service that Tom McDermott, brother of the indicted man, had offered the reward he was to receive for consummating his brother's capture, to Mrs. Florence E. Mellett, widow of the slain publisher.

The offer of any reward for Pat's capture was withdrawn three weeks ago at a conference between authorities here.

It may be just as well that the campaign is to close this week. Were it to continue much longer, it's just possible that it might become slightly undignified.

Premier Mussolini says he has "to give the Italian nation moral and material greatness." When it comes to a rare combination of generosity and sacrifice, Benito is in a class by himself.

Some of the watches women wear may not keep time, but if there are enough diamonds in the cases they are sure to keep women more or less contented.

A Washington story says that 15,000 new laws will be enacted by the federal and state legislative bodies to be elected next week. Now we know what we are up against, even though there may be no means at hand to avert the tragedy.

The Chicago rum-runners and boot-leggers are said to be as one in their approval of the statement, made by General Andrews up there, that prohibition is a great success.

The Christian Science Monitor says the Anti-Saloon league is wrong in subordinating all else to the dry issue. The Monitor means well, of course, but we very gravely fear it is in error in one respect. We never heard of it subordinating to anything the little matter of salaries.

Two Classes of Motorists.

Motorists may be divided into two general classes. One class, which happily is far the larger, is made up of those whose inherent inclination and breeding alike impel them to be considerate of the rights of others. This class may be depended upon to show others every courtesy. The smaller class, but unhappily a class which seems to be growing, is made up of those who lack the nice sense of courtesy usually found to be associated with good breeding, those who are inconsiderate of the rights of others, those who apparently think first, last and always of themselves. Many of them appear to suffer under the delusion that the possession of a car—very often their one possession of any marked value, and it unpaid for—gives them certain rights and privileges which they did not possess before they became "motorists." They assume to themselves an importance to which they have not the slightest title. They suffer from a form of egomania which makes them inconsiderate of the rights of other drivers of cars upon the highways and the rights of pedestrians upon the streets. Such are those who are known upon the highways as "road hogs." Such are those who block crossings at street and alley intersections, forcing pedestrians to go around them regardless of what may be the condition of the footing. They do not confine their offenses against courtesy to residential sections, but practice them also in the uptown business sections, very frequently at garage entrances.

It might be assumed that the police authorities would curb the activities of these crossing hogs, but the police seem to consider our traffic regulations much, as do many car drivers, as though they were intended for the welfare protection and convenience of motorists alone.

The council a few nights since enacted legislation making more thoroughfare regulations. It would be far better not have such regulations at all than to have them and permit them to go unenforced. The same is true of the electric signals in the uptown business section. The manner in which observance of them is enforced might lead to the suspicion that their abandonment is sought. We have even heard this hinted. But whether they are abandoned or retained, there should be enforcement so long as they are retained. And there should be enforcement of all our traffic laws so long as they are traffic laws. In no other way can respect for law be maintained and a curb placed on motorists inclined to violate all dictates of courtesy and the commonest decencies of life.

The Example of Italy.

The most recent bombastic utterances of Mussolini are a source of worry to Europe. Over here the inclination is to smile at them, on the feeling that they are intended for home consumption only. The European worry is not solely founded upon the fear that the Italian premier can arouse the people of Italy to a martial frenzy he is unable to control with the resultant plunging of Europe into another war.

What may come after Mussolini is another problem, but so long as Mussolini is the Mussolini he has been since he took over control of the Italian government it is hard to imagine Italy getting beyond his control. All who have followed his course since he headed his black shirts in their march upon Rome must marvel as much at the control he has exercised over his followers as at the accomplishments of the man.

It has changed apathy to energy, idleness to work, want and misery to comparative comfort, discontent to satisfaction, lawlessness and anarchy to law and order. It may be said that he is the law, but just the same it is law, and law that is honored and obeyed. And there can be no question but what government chaos has been succeeded by order. There is far less crime in Italy today than here in the United States and travelers on the streets of her cities are safer than they are in the cities of America. Italy's economic condition has been greatly improved meanwhile because of the strict governmental policies. All her industries are flourishing, many of them, among them her shipping, showing large profits. She is building up a merchant marine which is destined to be no mean contender for high shipping honors, and has rehabilitated her railroads till they are subjects for praise rather than reproach.

And now Finance Minister Volpi presents a statement for the fiscal year 1925-1926 showing that Italian exchange is appreciating daily and that the government today has large sums with a stable foreign value in her treasury despite the fact that from June 30 to September 30 she reduced her internal debt 5,000,000,000 paper lire—$200,000,000—without increasing her foreign debt and meanwhile has met all her obligations and is prepared to meet those of the future when they come due. On the latter date—September 30—her total public debt was $1,551,600,000, of which $96,800,000 are owed to the United States, $113,200,000 to Great Britain, $4,000,000 to private American firms and the rest is internal.

Benito Mussolini may be given somewhat to the shaking of the sword, he may talk occasionally of empire and extol the possibilities of Italy's future greatness, but while he is doing it he is building—building up Italian business, and agriculture, and industry, and, best of all, Italian morale. Anarchy, crime, idleness and shiftlessness no longer obtain in Italy. Dirt and squalor have disappeared throughout northern Italy and southern Italy is being cleansed. All Italy glows with patriotism and is industrious and happy as it has not been in decades.

This is the verdict of those who write of Italy; this is the story brought back by those who visit her. Were the rest of Europe to emulate the example she has set, western Europe today might be enjoying a feeling of justified self-respect.

It's pretty close to a hundred-to-one shot that Senator Jim Reed has enjoyed his little tour of investigation no matter what may be said for the feelings of those he investigated. Jim is built a bit that way.

"It's never been any mystery to me why the old girls paint to conceal their age," observed the restaurant philosopher at luncheon today, "but it always has been to me the mystery of mysteries why the young girls with beautiful complexions fall for the game of the elderly ones and emulate their paint masks."

A few days more and our political friends, regardless of party, will be delivered from their tortuous acts of trying to pass over the wire with water on one end of their balance poles and booze on the other.

We are inclined to lean to the view that there is something radically wrong in the idea of a one man senatorial investigating committee sleuthing in matters political during the progress of a campaign. It's conferring too much of the power to do harm, as a result of partisan bias, upon any one man.

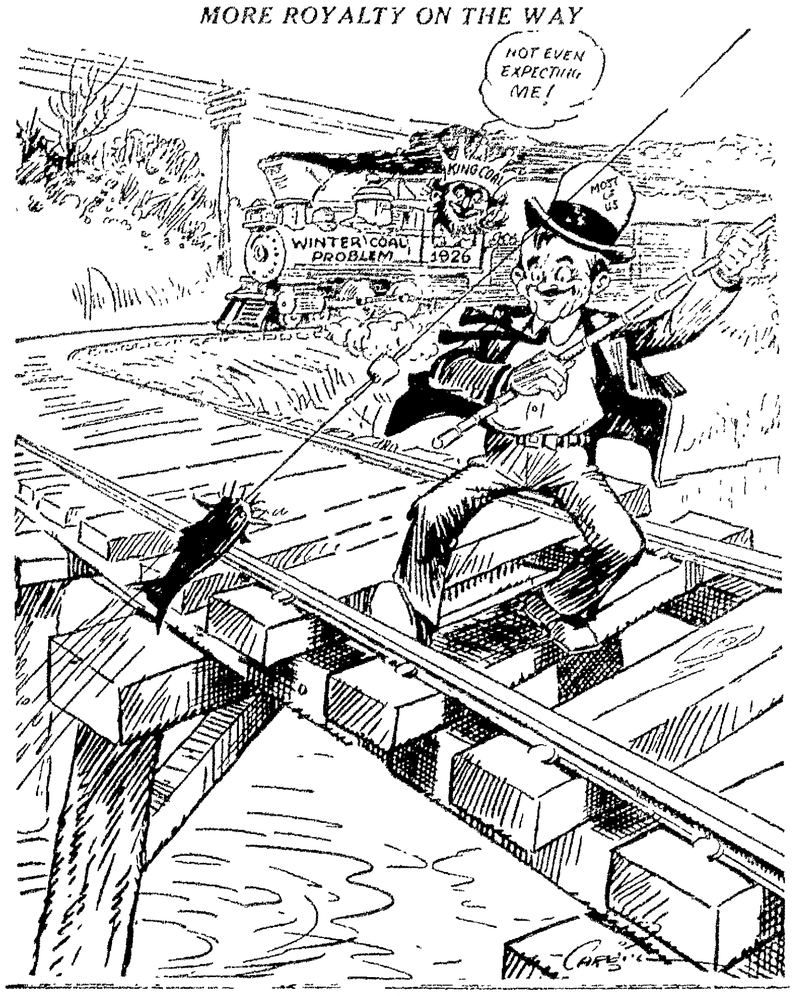
The average American will have some difficulty in understanding why a line which provides such a service as to bring out the enthusiastic praise of Queen Marie is not good enough for Americans holding diplomatic or consular positions abroad, and yet it may be noted that many of them seem to prefer vessels sailing under an alien flag. Such cases are not exceptional; they are many. As this is being read one of our most distinguished diplomats is returning aboard the French liner, Paris, to his official duties across the sea.

The Ohio State Journal speaks editorially of the excellent chances of Ohio State on the gridiron. It must be something of a relief to the Columbus newspaper fellows to have something bob up to withdraw attention from that awful diamond record down there.

It might help the crime situation some were the newspapers in addition to showing less of a tendency to glorify crime by giving gangsters a false news value, to pay less attention to the obsequies of gangster victims, which are usually only a trifle less featured than a championship fight or a world series game.

Herbert Hartley, who has commanded the Leviathan since her first trip as an American liner, has been made commodore of the United States lines and Commander Harold A. Cunningham of the George Washington, vice commodore, that their ranks may compare with those of commanders of vessels of their respective classes under other flags. We haven't a word to say to this, but while honors are being paid, there might be some added recognition given the captains who commanded the flooding and the Roosevelt when they made the rescues which brought peons of praise from the entire maritime world.

MORE ROYALTY ON THE WAY



Sciatic Nerve Sounds Warning.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Along the back of the thigh runs a great nerve, one of the longest and largest in the body. This is called the sciatic nerve, or sometimes, the hip nerve. Like other nerves the sciatic has many branches. They run off into the buttocks and the sides of the back part of the leg.

All nerves of sensation are liable to attacks of so-called "neuralgia" or "neuritis." The sciatic is no exception and since it is such a big nerve and supplies such a large area, any involvement of it will mean lots and lots of pain.

The sciatic nerve has its beginning within the pelvis. The bones of the hips and around the middle of the body are called the pelvic bones. Inside this pelvic space are very important organs. The bladder is here and the rectum. In women the womb and ovaries are enclosed in this cavity.

All the pelvic organs are liable to disease of one sort or another. There may be congestion or inflammation, the increased quantity of blood causing greater size and weight for the time. There may be tumors.

You can see that one or another of these ailments may cause one of the organs to crowd the root of the sciatic nerve or press upon the nerve in some part of its course through the pelvis. Pronounced constipation may fill the rectum and cause it to crowd the sciatic.

This combination of possibilities makes it more difficult to deal with a neuralgia of this nerve than of almost any other in the body. But, an attack of sciatica should give warning of possible trouble in the pelvis.

The same causes which are alleged to produce rheumatism may bring on an attack of sciatica. That is, cold, exposure to wet weather, chilling from any cause, are factors in producing sciatica. On this account neuralgia of this nerve is often called "sciatic rheumatism."

There is usually tenderness over the course of the nerve and pain in every part supplied by it. All the back of the thigh, the buttocks, down the leg and even into the foot, the cutting, burning, grinding pain extends.

The worst thing about sciatica, the doctor's name for the condition we are considering, is that it returns again and again. It may disappear entirely, only to recur with even greater severity.

In all cases of neuralgia we must make sure there is no center of infection somewhere. Abscessed teeth, diseased tonsils, obstinate constipation, or some disease of the pelvic organ where pus is present—all these possibilities must be considered.

Hot applications and quiet will usually control the pain. Capsicum vaseline applied to the parts and a hot wet towel over it, may help.

Overwork and overworry are things which must be got rid of in some way. Upbuilding the general health and living the simple life are essentials.

Vagrant Verse.

AUTUMN SUNRISE.

O peerless pageant of the morning's birth!
The molten splendor, like a lava flood
Forced by some travail of the infant Earth
Through piled horizon-floors of silted mud,
Pierces the level gauzy folds that shroud
The sun's ascent. Burning to clearer view,
He steps triumphant from the tent of cloud—
Pure, minted gold upon a screen of blue.
Hailed by the skylarks dewy melodies
He pours his warmth upon a waking world,
Nor stays his zeal till o'er the sleeping seas
The winding scarf of mist he hath unfurled
Mortals! Your pattern be the tireless Sun
Bate not your steep ascent till time be done.

The English plan, on the other hand, declares each share to be equal in amount to each other share. When these shares become fully paid, they may be converted into stock, but not otherwise. The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

The Mayan prince who wants four wives—one to cook, one to keep the woman chimes, one to wait on the ways ready talking each other down. Women want personal equality with a man. They got it. They want economic equality with man. They've got that. When they get everything—as they will—economic, social and urban equality, they will have to be up at gardens of dawn and be grateful to men's humanities and exemptions. And then among other disagreeable things they will have to pay alimony.

It was important advice that an old actor gave a young one when he told him always to "watch his cabbages." "Throw a cabbage hard at you on the head and knock you flat. On the other hand a capable actor—capable with his hands—can catch his cabbages and his turnips too. So with all criticism, and you don't have to be an actor to make this valuable. When you get a jolt of criticism, don't let it know you flat. Catch it, look it over, take the best out of it, use it. Make a stew of your cabbage. It will be wholesome.

Two things we all need, perhaps more than we need a doctor or even a minister. We need a good cook and enough will power to keep us from eating as much as we want. The stomach, if you will find out about it, is really a very little thing. Fortunately it is capable of great distension, like a toy balloon. We should be in a bad way if it wasn't elastic. Curious that in order to gratify certain nerves we should put such a load on the digestive machinery. Strange feat most of us should eat from one and a half to two times as much as we need to keep the body in good working order.

Health is not a matter of medicine. It is not a matter of climate and clothing. It is mostly a matter of will power. Remember that the next time mince pie follows roast beef and mashed potatoes.

Not long ago a young man in a business office surprised everybody by the rapid pace at which he got along. He did good work and earned early promotion. Perhaps the answer came when one of the office force said: "I know what it is. He has always been told that he can do a thing if he tries, if he is really in earnest. He never doubts himself."

This man knew the home history of the successful young man. Too often men and women afflict their children with inferiority ideas. They handle their children incompetently. They do too much for them. They make them doubt their own capacity. They express disbelief, lack of faith in the young man's capacity. He feels that lack of faith. It affects him deeply, and it lasts all through life.

And so that was the answer to the young man who got along so well. He had always been told that he could. A belief in the boy sometimes yields surprising results.

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

The idlest women I know of are the ones that can't find anything to do but talk about their maids and cooks. And you've no notion how many thousands of women there is in this country, in the big cities, that just sit around and try all afternoon to make each other jealous by telling how lazy they are. One will say that she hasn't done a tap of work for years, and the other will get mad until she can think up something that will show that she's lazier than her neighbor. Well, there's a lot of good, old-fashioned women left, you can bet your boots, because no country could go very far with these kind that I've just been telling you about.

And one that I heard about servants came from one of these groups that I've just mentioned. The lady says to the new cook, "Better serve that sirloin steak for dinner too, Martha."

"Well," she says, "I'm sorry, but the cat ate that one."

"Cat ate it? What cat ate it?"

"Oh, ain't there no cat? Beg your pardon, Ma'am. I thought you had a cat of course. Well, all right, I'll serve the steak."—Copyright, 1926.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York Oct. 28.—It is estimated New York pays $5,000,000 a year on press agents. This enormous expenditure results from the greed of press agents who average $100 a week. Those super "merchants of glory" who lift obscurities for $5 a day.

The circus methods of luring stage stars to park benches for petting bootlegs. Hens in the boudoir pets are not recognized any more. The calliope is grown a trifle more discordant for often recognize men who live honest lives just as they recognize other successes.

A few prominent newspapers from sparse circulated rounds. Every shrewd observer knows depends on the public for patronage knows that the only sure results are from straight news and paid advertisements. No reader is fooled to buy a diamond ring from the proprietor of a shop who, for instance, is honored as giving $50,000 to a charity home.

Newspapers realize the only value of such glorification is a sop to one's personal vanity and this has little cash value. And it is for this reason that press agency has not been entirely routed. A "staged" publicity event these days receives a ha-ha.

There has, however, grown up in the publicity field a number of purely puff press agents, simulating names of more honest contemporaries, whose livelihood depends entirely upon a weakness of vanity in those they victimize.

The victim read a glowing tribute of himself by the representative and is asked casually if he would like 500 or a thousand copies for friends. If he does not give a substantial order the write-up does not appear.

The majority of press agents are attached to the stage and movie fields. Stories about players are a matter of public interest and require no duplicity to have them printed.

I know of no men so patient as those fishermen who angle for human souls in rescue missions of the East Side. Day after day the "converted" stray from the path and return trembling and weak and in search of spiritual solace. The mission men are always ready for them with words of hope and confidence. To them no sheep is ever lost. The rewards indeed seem few but they never give up and it is for this reason no doubt that now and then they meet with success.

Who's Who and Why.

SMITH W. BROOKHART

Iowa's political campaign is being enlivened by the spirited contest going on between the veteran Smith Brookhart and Claude Porter. Porter has been heckling Brookhart and charging him with being a "stand-patter." This Brookhart denies.

Brookhart, a prominent character in American politics for years, was born in a log cabin in Scotland county, Missouri, near the Iowa line, on February 2, 1869. Shortly afterward his parents took him to Minnesota, where in early youth he performed the usual farm labors.

Moving to Iowa in his "teens," Brookhart entered the Bloomfield Normal school, graduated, taught two years in country schools and improved his leisure moments by reading law. He finally began a law practice in Washington, Iowa, where he has lived ever since.

Brookhart naturally drifted into politics. He became a "trust-buster" about the time that Roosevelt was attempting similar things on a national scale in the other city of Washington. The Iowan began by supporting a man for public office who was opposed by the railroads and in Iowa, at that period, the railroads just about ran things.

His activities resulted in a visit from Joseph W. Blythe, then political czar of Iowa. Blythe tried to be friendly with the belligerent youth, but Brookhart spurned the compromise and elected to fight him. For five years the insurgent was whipped from pillar to post, but he at last arose through adversity and soundly licked Blythe. That victory, while ending Blythe's rule, spurred Brookhart on to a political career.

At that time he was on the side of Albert B. Cummins, governor of Iowa. Brookhart and Cummins in a war upon the railroads and Cummins won. In 1908 Brookhart helped elect Cummins to the senate. They were fine friends.

A decade later, after time had softened Cummins' views, the friends quarreled. The quarrel, developing over the Esch-Cummins act led to an open break between the pair, and they became bitter political foes.

When Cummins came up for reelection in 1920 Brookhart not only fought him but actually ran against him in the primaries. Brookhart lost by 18,000 votes, but two years later he again fought for the senatorial toga, when William S. Kenyon resigned from the senate. In this campaign the entire Republican organization threw its strength against the insurgent and sent half a dozen candidates into the primaries to split Brookhart's strength. But Brookhart won overwhelmingly.

Thus he came into the senate on an insurgent wave. He immediately affiliated with the La Follette group.

In the last congressional election Brookhart was victor over Daniel Steck in a close race which went to the senate for ultimate decision.

PERUVIAN SUB NOT IN DANGER, REPORTS STATE

R-2's Engine Temporarily Disabled; Being Towed by R-1

New York, Oct. 28—The Peruvian submarines R-1 and R-2, reported severely disabled 130 miles off Cape May, N. J., did not send out an S. O. S. call last night and are in no danger of sinking, naval communications reported this morning.

The R-1, carrying a crew of 22, accompanied by her sister ship with a crew of 20, left Newport, R. I., last Tuesday for Peru.

The distress call picked up at various coastal stations last night apparently was actuated by the fact that the R-2's engine was temporarily disabled and that she was being towed by her sister ship, the R-1, informed naval communications. The R-1 said the R-2 was in no danger and that her disabled engine was being repaired by the crew.

The S. O. S. call that the R-1 was in distress was believed to have been sent by the steamer Vesuvio. The revenue cutters Gresham, Hammond and Seneca were standing by the submarine this morning after a quick dash out to sea, according to reports received at the coast guard base at Cape May, N. J.

Report Dispelled

Although the S. O. S. call was received at Boston and Philadelphia, the Cape May coast guard station and naval communications here did not pick it up. The message read:

"S. O. S. Peruvian R-1 with broken engines. latitude 38:24; longitude 71:20; sinking. Make every effort to tow. S. O. S."

A report that one of the submarines was sinking was dispelled when the R-1 sent a wireless asking for radio compass bearings, and at 6 o'clock this morning naval communications characterized the S. O. S. call as "a fluke."

Receipt of the S. O. S. last night resulted in a general suspension of radio broadcasting for a time.

THOMPSON FOR JUDGE

Are you going to vote? Are you giving thought to the right men to fill the various offices, to be voted on at the coming election?

I have offered myself as a candidate for the office of Judge of the Common Pleas Court of this County, and have based my campaign on my fitness for the office as demonstrated by my legal training and record for honesty, fair dealing and sense of justice.

I am a candidate who if elected, pledges himself to devote his entire time and ability to the proper and successful administration of the affairs of the office.

I am a native son of Marion, 52 years of age. I received my education in the public schools, graduating with the class of '95.

Studied law in the office and under the guidance of Fred E. Guthery, for nearly four years before taking the state bar examination. I was admitted to the bar and entered the practice of law in partnership with John H. Clark of this city. At the termination of said partnership I was elected and served as Justice of the Peace of Marion Township. While serving in that capacity I had 2,600 cases filed before me and in my disposition of all of them I was never overruled or reversed in a single case. A record of which I feel I may be justly proud and which I believe tends to prove my fitness for the position to which I now aspire. In my young manhood I united with the First Presbyterian Church of this city and was a member of the choir for some fifteen years, later being an attendant of the M. E. Church at Morral.

In 1911 I was united in marriage with Lela I. Titus daughter of E. H. Titus, and moved to our present home on my farm in Salt Rock Township, where I have enjoyed the great pleasure and small profit of tilling the soil.

It has been my life long endeavor to maintain a reputation for honesty and fairness in all my dealings, and am confident that in the judgment of all who know me I have succeeded.

In entering the race for the Judgeship I did so on my own volition and not by the desire of any persons or organization and am not the candidate of any clique or group of persons, and if elected I pledge myself not to be influenced by any selfish outside interests.

I court and request your closest inquiry and investigation. With confidence in myself and the good judgment of all the voters I await your decision at the polls.

Harry C. Thompson.

Judge Ben B. Lindsey Says He Expects To See Congressman Brooks Fletcher Rise to the Highest Office in the Nation

One of the great advantages Brooks Fletcher has over most newly elected Congressmen is in his wide personal acquaintance with public men and the women leaders in every section of the country, a number of whom for many years have urged Mr. Fletcher to enter politics.

Of the several noted men in public life who are interested in Brooks Fletcher's political career none is perhaps more widely known than Judge Ben B. Lindsey, world-famed Juvenile Court Judge.

Recently Judge Lindsey commented on the brilliant record Brooks Fletcher has made in the seven short months he has been in Congress and referring to the fine preparfion Mr. Fletcher has made for political service to the people wrote that he expects to live to see the day when Congressman Brooks Fletcher will rise in state and national politics to be considered by the leaders of his party as available for the highest office within the gift of the nation.

First Public Appearance To Be in Patriotic Parade Nov. 11

A drill team of about 100 members has been organized by the Order of DeMolay in this city and plans are under way for its first public appearance in the Armistice Day parade here the night of Nov. 11. The team has been practicing during the last few weeks under the direction of Sgt. John C. Porter of the U. S. Army corps on guard duty here at the Harding tomb, who reports that the organization will probably be well prepared for participation in the Armistice Day event.

The new drill team is to be provided with uniforms but no decision has been reached, as yet, upon the style to be adopted. A temporary type of costume will probably be adopted for the Armistice Day parade in case the team decides to make its debut at that time.

CONTINUING PROSPERITY OR INDUSTRIAL CHAOS?

THE CONTRAST

1913-14	1926
Under a "Competitive Tariff," Wages in Ohio $1.50 to $1.75 for a 9 or 10 hour day. 27 applicants in Cleveland for every position. 300,000 men out of work in Ohio.	Under the Coolidge Tariff, More men employed. Higher Wages. Greater Prosperity for the average man than was ever before attained in any country in the world's history.

DO YOU WISH THE RETURN OF A "COMPETITIVE" TARIFF, SUCH AS BROUGHT THE INTOLERABLE CONDITIONS OF 1913-14, OR A CONTINUANCE OF THE CONDITIONS OF PROSPERITY EXISTING TODAY?

THIS IS THE QUESTION FACING THE VOTERS OF OHIO WHO SELECT A UNITED STATES SENATOR ON TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 2nd.

THE CONTRAST

AS A MEMBER OF THE SENATE:

The Democratic candidate voted 400 times against protection for the American workingman. Only an potash and peanuts, neither of which are produced in Ohio did he ever vote for protection for American labor and American standards of living. His party pledges him now to vote again as he did before, and in his party the caucus rules regardless of personal views.	Senator Frank B. Willis, Candidate for re-election, voted every time for the protection of American industry and American standards of life. He is pledged, both personally and by his party to continue this policy.

Let us not have a repetition of the Conditions when only 40% of the people of Ohio were working or had any chance to work.

THESE ARE THE BIG ISSUES IN THE SENATORIAL FIGHT:

Shall American Industry be protected from the 36 cent per day labor of Europe?

Shall the policies of President Coolidge be Sustained?

SENATOR FRANK B. WILLIS HAS BEEN AND IS A STAUNCH SUPPORTER of the policies of the President, under which the people of the United States have enjoyed for four years a prosperity unparalleled in the world's history. No President can achieve, unless the Congress sustains him. Ohio voted for Coolidge 700,000 strong. Let us now not tie his hands by electing a man who's every vote, judged by his past record, would be cast against the Presidential policies.

Senator Willis has voted three times for taxation reduction. His opponent, despite Ohio's 500,000 vote for Harding, voted "No" on the Harding taxation reduction bill of 1921.

The fight successfully waged by Senator Willis against the "Chicago Water Steal" is one of the greatest in recent Senatorial history, and of the utmost importance to the industrial life of Ohio.

Chairman of a most important Senate Committee, a member of three more big committees, Senator Willis, as recently stated by one of the country's great newspapers, "rightfully takes his place beside such illustrious Republican predecessors as John Sherman, Marcus A. Hanna, Joseph B. Foraker, Theodore E. Burton, and Warren G. Harding."

IF YOU BELIEVE IN OHIO AND THE NATION, IF YOU WISH TO CONTINUE THE ABUNDANT PROSPERITY YOU NOW ENJOY, VOTE AGAINST THE RETURN OF A "COMPETITIVE" TARIFF AND WAGE SCALES BELOW THE AMERICAN STANDARD OF LIVING. VOTE FOR A CONTINUANCE OF GREAT AMERICAN POLICIES BY HELPING TO RE-ELECT FRANK B. WILLIS AS UNITED STATES SENATOR ON NOVEMBER 2nd.

YOU CAN COUNT ON WILLIS!

JAMES A. DEAL

Republican Candidate for

SHERIFF

Second Term

By reason of the important duties of my office, I will be unable to meet all the voters of Marion County. I am taking this means of soliciting your support and if elected to a second term, the same efficient service will be continued; your support will be appreciated and your confidence will not be misplaced.

Maybe Myers Cooper can sell about half of the 1864 autos bought and paid for out of state funds before the treasury went dry—and it's empty today.

But, anyway, Cooper will not buy any pleasure cars for political job holders who sit in an office in Columbus.

It costs nearly $4,000 every day to operate the state cars, many of them limousines. The state of Ohio has bought enough gasoline and tires in the last 12 months to cover three million miles. It might be witty to ask if the state is burning up roads faster than it can build them, but it is most serious to ask how many of your dollars, paid in unnecessary taxes, went to buy private autos, tires and gasoline for private politicians. Running this big state is a business, and the condition of the state treasury indicates that it is the victim of bad business.

(This advertisement is paid for by contributions from citizens who sincerely believe Myers Cooper should be elected Governor of Ohio.)

Do Your Gums Bleed and Recede from the Teeth?

Tender, sore or bleeding gums, or gums fissured or receding from the teeth, indicate DEADLY PYORRHEA—the teeth's worst enemy. The disease first attacks the gums, later the tooth structure. As the gums recede from the teeth, pus pockets are formed, in which toxic poisons develop to be absorbed by the system and become the possible sources of other dangerous diseases. Don't let Pyorrhea endanger your health. The ravages of this terrible disease can be stopped, the gums healed and the poison the system has been absorbing checked, by the use of VINCENT'S PYORRHEA TREATMENT. For further particulars write,

A cough or cold that hangs on after the third day is a threat.

This healing medication, absorbed into the membranes themselves, breaks up the cold, stops the cough, brings prompt and lasting relief.

If you are catching cold; if you have a "head cold"; if your chest is tight; if you have a cough—even if bronchitis has developed—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at once!

ENDURED AGONY FROM BRUISES AND STRAIN

Hurt in bad fall, young woman makes quick recovery

A young woman at Bushnell's Basin, Monroe County, New York, fell and was badly bruised and strained.

"I suffered agony," she writes, "but I used Sloan's Liniment and it relieved the pain right away. Now I don't feel it at all."

What is the secret of the almost magical powers of this remarkable remedy?

Simply the fact that Sloan's doesn't merely deaden the nerves so that you don't feel the pain. It really drives out the pain by helping the conditions that are causing it.

Right to the affected spot it brings a healing stream of fresh, revitalizing blood, driving out congestion, relaxing contracted muscles. The pain stops as a natural consequence.

So clean and easy to use, too. Just pat it on lightly without rubbing, and the liniment will do its work. Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All druggists have it—35 cents.

Widow of "Most Useful" Citizen Goes to Europe

Woman Perseveres in Bond Selling and Finally Achieves Success

MRS. MARY RIIS, widow of Jacob Riis, has just sailed to Europe. This new picture was taken on shipboard. Jacob Riis was called by the late Theodore Roosevelt, America's "most useful citizen."

Since the death of her husband Mrs. Riis has devoted her time to selling bonds to women for a New York firm. Her first experience in this line of business was a failure, but she persevered making a specialty of selling the bonds to her own sex, and today she is at the head of the women's department, employing eight women, all selling stocks to feminine clients. She selects the personnel of her department from hundreds of applicants.

"Intelligence," she says, "patience and willingness to work untiringly are he main prerequisites of the bond saleswoman.

"And I take only women who are thrown on their own resources."

For beginners in bond selling a six months' course is required. The first year is one of terrible effort. "Cold leads" must be followed, and a clientele gradually built up.

"There is nothing sensational in the success that follows," said Mrs. Riis.

"The Women's Bond Club of New York is a select organization of women who are engaged in selling bonds, and Mrs. Riis is a member of this club.

"We chartered our own organization when we reached the point of wanting the cooperation and exchange of ideas furnished by a professional fraternity, and found that because of overcrowding, and for other reasons, membership in the Men's Bond Club was not available," explained Mrs. Riis.

During the business session the members were urged to go to the polls and vote next Tuesday. Mrs. Frank Berry, County Superintendent of the Soldiers and Sailors Departments, presented a number of articles made by members of the W. C. T. U. for the comfort of the disabled veterans and urged local members to take part in sewing for this department.

Plans were made for a mass meeting to be held Dec. 11 at one of the larger churches of the city, when Mrs. Lulu Loveland Shephard, known as the silver-tongued orator of Utah, will speak. Mrs. Shephard will give three addresses in the county under the auspices of the W. C. T. U.

WOMAN EVANGELIST DELIVERS SERMON

Rev. Eleanor Davis Reviews Life of Peter At Fite Baptist Church

Rev. Mrs. Eleanor Davis of Tippecanoe City, O., who is conducting revival services at the Fite Memorial Baptist Church this week spoke on the subject "And Peter" at the service last night, choosing her text from Mark, 16:7, "Go tell My disciples and Peter."

Mrs. Davis gave a brief review of the life of Peter, his failure to walk on water, his failure to understand Christ's severe rebuke, his failure to stand tests put to him, his grief, condemning himself for his action, his attitude toward Christ's death and finally his sorrow in having no part in Christ's resurrection.

"Through it all Christ prayed for Peter and finally through his angels sent Peter the message stated in the text," Mrs. Davis said, and applied the moral that "although we too, fail to understand and serve Christ and withstand the tests he put us through, Christ still prays for us."

Rex. Dexter Hazen of Bucyrus and the Rev. Mr. Potters of Spring Dale were in charge of the song service. Mrs. Davis will speak at the service tonight on the subject, "Is It I?"

The excited group of servants looked about blankly, until some one noticed the ... on the opposite hill and exclaimed:

"There they are! How'd they get over there? Maybe they've got the man!"

The gardener ran for a lantern and Mrs Scott continued:

"I don't see how anyone could get in Celia. Low could— Why, where's Celia?"

"I ain't seen her at all," said the cook, and the others echoed: "I ain't seen her."

"But she must— Why, she woke me! She heard somebody scream fire. She must have been out! Oh, the dogs! They've attacked Celia! Find her! Find her!"

Even as Piggy lifted Celia over the ..., the gardener ran with his lantern to investigate the quarry of the dogs. During his absence the house and its immediate vicinity were hastily searched by the maids, who whispered among themselves, as their paths crossed, that maybe she had run away. Maybe she had set the fire herself. They didn't blame her: anybody could see that the poor thing wasn't crazy—or was she, after all? Opinions wavered, changed, and changed back again. They hoped she had escaped.

Mrs. Scott, all this time, ran hither and yon, wringing her hands in the certainty that the dogs had killed her daughter and that the gardener would return bearing her mangled remains.

Instead, he brought Clifford Nixon, who was exceeding wroth, requiring no oracle to tell him what interpretation Scott would put upon the situation from which he had just been rescued. Livid and grim, he knew that the only possibility—remote at best—of saving from peneficial annihilation the business interests he presented lay in prompt and decisive action. Now he must find Roberta, and see to it, moreover, that Celia was returned to the fold.

His theory of the raid, privately confided to Mrs. Scott, added the final touch to her disorientation, and she collapsed into a chair, feebly quavering:

"Roberta? But where—but how—but ..."

"I don't know where or how, but she did it," he said curtly. "Where's the telephone?"

She indicated it and he called up officers of the law at Jaffrey, Dublin, and Peterborough, Keene, Worcester, Greenfield, and way points, notifying them that Miss Celia Scott had been abducted and warning them to watch roads and trains for her. He then put in a call to Scott himself: but long before the New York connection was made, Piggy, stealing darkly into Fitzwilliam, had lifted Celia from the car and carried her to the bedroom prepared for her.

There, by the rays of a single candle, ...

"Piggy, I—I guess it was just because I wanted to."

"Are you sorry?"

"No!"

"Well, you ought to be," she said severely. "I've trusted you, and— What made you do a thing like that?"

"Dunno. I never did before."

"Naturally, I know that!"

"I mean, I—I never kissed any girl before—not since I was grown up."

"Galahad!"

Piggy pumped. "What's that?"

"You know who Galahad was don't you?" she sweetly inquired. "Are you trying to make yourself out his double?"

"Not on your life I'm not!" said Piggy, with a lean in her direction—and kissed her again.

"You must be crazy!"

"Well, maybe I am." Once more he wrist-drew rubbing the ear she had ...ffed. "I guess we both are. Nobody but beauties would have tried to pull that stunt tonight."

"But it worked," she whispered, glowing again. "Celia's free. If only the rest goes as well—"

"The rest's a snap," quoth Piggy, and floated to his room on a sublimated sea of elation, forgetting that whom the gods would cast down they first make confident.

The tint of Piggy's locks, as he had said, was beginning to show deterioration. The hair had resumed a slightly greenish cast at the ends, while nearer the scalp, owing to Roberta's lack of experience in applying dye, the color was uneven, with a suggestion of bright brown at the roots.

"What's the matter?" Robert emerged from Celia's room to ... him in his doorway, ... a ... streaks of water that trickled from his ... crown.

"This darn stuff won't wash off!"

"What? Oh, it must! Let me try."

"I tell you it won't come off. I've scrubbed and scrubbed, and all it does is to make it a little greener."

"Oh, is, is!" said Roberta, distressed.

"What'll I do? Have I got to wear green hair for the rest of my life?"

"I—I don't know. Wouldn't that be awful! Let's ask Janet."

This personage, hastily summoned, regarded him with a pessimistic eye remarking that he was beginning to reap the wages of sin. Pressed, she reluctantly admitted that doubtless time would wipe away the stain, replacing the present capillary stigma with a new growth of natural color.

"But ye'll be piebald the whiles," she grimly prophesied. "Or else ye'll go with shaven head, like the criminal ye are."

"Oh—well—that's not so bad. Thanks."

Relieved, he closed his door again. Afterward, the gifted Janet, upon whom years and experience had bestowed many strange accomplishments, gloomily and with consummate skill stained each and every hair fet black to its root.

He then sought the tavern to learn what men might report of the night, and had difficulty in restraining his emotion until he regained the seclusion of his rented walls. There he slammed the door and dropped into a chair, to ... peal-up yells of laughter.

"What is it?" she implored. "Stop laughing and tell me."

"They've got him!" he gasped.

"Got whom?"

"The kidnapper. They caught him. The dogs—oh, wow"! Speech failed him, but presently he sat up, wiping his eyes, and explained, between spasms of mirth: "Those blessed pups treed him—treed the Whunglodolle!"

"The Whung—you mean Cliff? How could they? Where was he?"

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

THE ... of Mary Harrison filling ... Leslie gave a ... upon the best of ... with keen ... consideration of ... own problems ... immediately ... of my mind. I had ... searching be... fore me, which I knew would call for every atom of tact and discretion I possessed.

Mary's laughing, though impertinent suggestion that I scan them in a smoke, told me that she was defiant, told me also that she was beginning to disregard the rigid discipline which Philip Vernon had laid down for her. She knew that I never smoked, and that I had ... disapproval of her cigarettes, even though I never had spoken to her directly upon the subject. She also knew, as did I, that one of Philip Vernon's rules for her was no smoking.

"When you are an established star, you may do as you please," he had said, "but while you are under my jurisdiction and preparing for your future, you will smoke not at all. The habit is good neither for your body nor your nerves, both of which must be brought up to the acme of efficiency."

Stern Demands of Art

That the prohibition was a wise one, both Lillian and I agreed, but we also felt that some of his other strictures had far less of wisdom in them. He had outlined a program for Mary which held no whit of consideration for the girl's extreme youth, and her tempestuous high spirits.

"It isn't human," Lillian had declared. "I don't know what Phil is thinking about, although he always was a nut about having no other gods before one's art. He followed that theory himself in his own youth, and he's kept it up with the people he trains. Some of them break under the strain, and gives them up. Others, like—she named two or three feminine stage stars who had achieved world fame under Vernon's tutelage—managed to come through without dying or ... and ... but they were not as young as Mary, nor had they her peculiar temperament. You know the old adage about giving a colt too ... a ride. Frankly, I'm worried, but there's nothing to do but wait. The others of the Movies and Pursuits were like the Volstead act when compared with Philip Vernon's code."

She had this ... less than a week ago, and I feared that here upon the park bench I was witnessing the beginning of a rebellion which might cost Mary the career she craved. There was nothing for me to do however, save to play a waiting game. I did not dare express my disapproval of her conduct while Jack Leslie listened, nor could I betray the loathing and fear of the cabaret dancer which was mine.

The Cabaret Dancer

He had lost no time, apparently, in seizing the opportunity to continue the acquaintance begun in the park when the curiosity-ridden ledger of the fourth floor had fainted at Mary's feet and he had come to the rescue of both. Of course I knew that Mary's charm and loveliness were such as to afford a plausible excuse for any man's wishing to seek her out, but lovely women were no novelty to the cabaret dancer, and mingled with my lively disgust that Mary should have permitted the chance acquaintanceship to proceed to the terms of comradeship upon which the two were, was a vague, indefinable fear that there was something sinister, menacing to Dicky's young niece in the cabaret dancer's twisted soul.

It was not the ordinary fear which an older experienced woman would have of such an association—for Mary has that curious mixture of sophistication and innocence which so queerly guards so many of our feminine young moderns—but something more fantastic and terrible.

Surely, if ever I had need of Lillian's poker face I wanted it as I stood before the bench with Mary's laughing, yet defiant young eyes and Leslie's coldly watchful ones fixed upon my face. But I flattered myself that no hint of my dismay appeared in my face, as I answered lightly:

"Thank you, but I never have been able to learn to smoke. I will sit with you, a bit, however, if you don't mind. Your bench looks very inviting."

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found how to save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for results. It gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mrs. Annie Kwinski of 526 1st Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., writes that she became so weak and rundown that she was not able to do her housework. She saw the name Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the paper and said to her husband, "I will try that medicine and see if it will help me." She says she took six bottles and is feeling much better.

Mrs. Mattie Adams, who lives in Downing Street, Brewton, Ala., writes as follows: "A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and since taking it I feel like a different woman."

With her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grandchildren, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.

Thousands of women past fifty, say they owe their health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How I fry POTATOES 15 different ways

I FIRST ate French Fried Potatoes when, as a little girl, my father and I stopped one night at a small New England hotel.

First, the selection of your fat is very, very important, and it must be properly used. The old saying, "Wait for the fat to smoke before you put the food in" is out of date. Until I found Crisco (which fries to perfection without smoking) I used this test, smoking up the whole house as well as my hair and clothes, every time I fried anything.

French Fried · Julienne · Saratoga Chips Waffle · French Fried Sweets

For French Fried, cut in strips about one-half inch square, and for Julienne (or Strings), in match-like strips. For Saratoga use smaller potatoes sliced as thin as possible. But for Waffle Potatoes we need a cutter, which can be bought cheaply in any department store. This will also cut Julienne.

To fry any of these, first be sure they are dried in a towel. Put in a medium-sized kettle about 2 to 2½ lbs. of Crisco. It can be used over and over, so this will last for many fryings. Heat slowly and when it will brown a piece of bread in 20 seconds it is hot enough to fry the potatoes (395° F. if you use a thermometer). There are kettles with a basket especially made for deep fat frying, but you can use an ordinary sauce pan and wire strainer or just skim them out with a skimmer.

Remember, put in only a few potatoes at a time. Cold potatoes of course cool the hot Crisco so it may be necessary to increase the heat until the Crisco is as hot as when you put them in. As you watch them fry, notice there is no smoke.

When they are well browned (in about 4½ minutes) test with a toothpick to be sure they are done, then drain on soft paper, sprinkle with salt and serve.

Notice how wonderful they are, all the real potato flavor, undisguised by any flavor of fat. Notice, too, the potatoes are not greasy or fat-soaked. Crisco, when properly used, fries anything without soaking in. This makes it most economical, as so little is used up. No matter what you have fried with Crisco, simply strain it back into the can and it is ready for the next fry. And of course Crisco never carries the flavor of one food to another.

Sweet potatoes, raw or cold boiled, may be French Fried the same way.

Franconia Potatoes · Sweet Potato Puffs

For Franconia Potatoes, to serve with roasts, I use the tiniest potatoes. Instead of browning them in the oven, I cook them more easily and quickly in the deep kettle. Crisco deep-frying browns them evenly. Often I dress them up by rolling in beaten eggs and bread crumbs. This makes delicious, brown, crispy balls, not a bit greasy when fried in Crisco.

Sweet Potato Puffs are delicious, too. Take four medium-sized potatoes, boil, peel and put through ricer. Add one well beaten egg, ½ teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, mix and cool. Then drop teaspoonfuls into grated fresh bread crumbs. Fry as you do French Fried Potatoes. Crisco browns them almost instantly, without soaking into the soft mixture or changing the flavor.

Cottage Fried · Carmel Sweets Potato Cakes

These three are simply left-over boiled potatoes.

Cottage Fried we brown on both sides in frying pan. Caramel Sweets we fry the same way, except that we sprinkle them generously on both sides with granulated sugar while they are frying.

An Astonishing Blindfold Test

SEE if this doesn't give you the greatest surprise of your whole cooking experience!

Put a little Crisco on the tip of one spoon. On the tip of another place a little of the fat you are now using; have someone blindfold you, and give you first one, then the other fat to taste.

Now, did you ever imagine there could be such a striking difference in the taste of raw cooking fats! Think what a difference Crisco's sweetness and freshness will make in your own cakes, pies, biscuits and fried foods.

I made delicious Potato Cakes to serve with cold meat by adding a beaten egg to left-over mashed potatoes. I make them into round flat cakes and brown on both sides in the frying pan. It takes only a few minutes and it's a pleasure to fry them in Crisco. I am sure you will find in pan-frying with Crisco the same pleasure you will in Crisco deep-frying. Your potatoes will be fried to the same good-looking brown without the unsightly scorched places we see when we use a fat which must smoke before it fries. Better results are obtained when you use plenty of Crisco. Because it does not soak in, what is left can be used again.

Lyonnaise · Hashed Brown Pittsburgh · Sauté · O'Brien

Five other ways to use up cold boiled potatoes. For Lyonnaise, slice thin, add as much sliced onion as you like, a little chopped parsley, and fry all together, tossing with a fork until they are a nice brown. For Hashed Brown, chop and brown in the frying pan. Stir occasionally until partly brown all through. Then let them brown over the bottom, double over like an omelet, and serve on the platter in omelet shape, a lovely golden brown. For Pittsburgh, add chopped green pepper to the chopped potatoes and cook the same way. For Sauté, dice them and brown in the frying pan. For O'Brien, add to diced potatoes, chopped raw bacon, onion and pimentos, and fry in the same way.

Crisco

Crisco is the trade-mark for a superior shortening manufactured and guaranteed purely vegetable by The Procter & Gamble Co., Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A.

CRISCO was used by Mrs. Geo. O. Thurn in the Star Cooking School Conducted last week.

To test your cooking fat—taste it raw. Crisco's superiority will astonish you

TWO FUNCTIONS CLIMAX EVENTS OF HALLOWE'EN

Elks and Alpha Pi Sigma Sorority at Galion Sponsor Clever Parties

Galion, Oct. 28—Two important social functions took place last evening and proved the climax of Hallowe'en events.

Galion Elks and their friends enjoyed a masquerade dance at the club rooms which was largely attended, and which opens their season of pleasant social affairs. All the e attending were asked and dressed in a variety of gay costumes including every conceivable type from eccentric to the picturesque. An orchestra from Marion provided the music for the evening and the social committee called for a number of special stunts. Gaiety reigned until a late hour when the usual Hallowe'en refreshments were served.

The Moose hall was the scene of the lovely dance arranged by members of the Alpha Pi Sigma sorority. Sixty-five couples were in attendance all garbed in fitting attire. The affair was very informal and several old fashioned games were enjoyed. The "Rainbow Serenaders" of Mansfield supplied the music and their special numbers were well received. Prizes were awarded to the best costumed couple and to the winners of the special Balloon Dance. Another of the club rooms was filled with card tables and bridge enthusiasts played while resting between dances. This is the first dance attempted by Alpha Pi Sigma but after last night's success plans will soon be made for another, equally as enjoyable.

RABBITS DISTRIBUTED IN WYANDOT COUNTY

Hunting Grounds Reported To Be Plentifully Supplied This Year

Upper Sandusky, Oct. 28—Rabbits were distributed over Wyandot County for the first time this year when Game Warden D. L. Stabler put out 60. Reports handed in by individuals over the county show that these animals have multiplied very rapidly, therefore making hunting very favorable this year.

Stabler further reports that the total number of matured fish distributed in this county in the past four years was 21,010. The GREATER HOOVER insist— "Show me the Agitator!"

It pays to know the difference between The HOOVER and a vacuum cleaner

Almost every manufacturer believes his product to be best. Electric cleaner manufacturers are no exception.

But today there is a new test of the latest and most efficient development in electric cleaners.

To the salesman, or the dealer, or the manufacturer who waxes eloquent over the superiorities of his cleaner simply say, and insist:

"Show me the Agitator!"

We feel this is the test of the genuinely modern cleaner. We know that the new and greater Hoover, equipped with the Agitator shown above, surpasses even the celebrated standard-design Hoover in these important particulars:

1 For the first time, it makes possible "Positive Agitation" of floor coverings.

2 By actual test, in the ordinary cleaning time, it beats out and sweeps up from carpetings an average of 131% more dirt.

3 It is an even greater rug-saver; the oftener a carpet is cleaned with a Hoover the longer that carpet will wear.

4 It is virtually service-proof, every part, including the new motor, requiring no oiling.

5 It increases the efficiency of its remarkable dusting tools because of its 50% stronger suction.

6 Its exclusive dust- and germ-proof bag is now washable.

7 Its form and finish are of startling beauty; and every new feature insures greater operating ease.

Surely you want in your home the new, exclusive, doubly efficient cleaner —the modern cleaner that meets the "Agitator test." We will deliver you one today complete with dusting tools, $6.25 down, balance in easy monthly payments.

MODIFICATION OF PRIMARY LAW IS ONLY ISSUE

Caliber of Public Officials Has Declined Rapidly, Says Knight in Address

Columbus, O., Oct. 28—"Modifying the primary law of Ohio is not the big issue in the election; it is the only issue in the election next Tuesday," declared Charles L. Knight, publisher of Akron Beacon-Journal and Springfield Sun, and chairman of the committee which is submitting the constitutional amendment to the people, in an address before the Exchange Club here today.

We have had direct primaries for 14 years," said Knight, "and in that time the caliber of public officials has declined to the point where public interest in policies and government has reached such a low level that the state is about to cast perhaps the smallest vote in 20 years.

Knight intimated that the direct primary as a machine to make the state safe for a democracy was a "shriveled" wish all the lives pictured. "The primary," he said, "did not destroy the bosses, but gave them a firmer grip on power; it almost destroyed public interest in public affairs; it has practically wiped out party government; it has given us election contests that are largely about jobs and not principles and it has had 14 years fair trial and failed to remedy any political evils.

The speaker again reiterated the statement that the amendment does not disfranchise the women voters as many have been led to believe. He said it did nothing to take away any of the present rights under the primary but simply amended the law to permit the political parties to function under a system of convention, the delegates to which are elected by the people.

"This primary fight," Knight declared, "is nothing more nor less than a return to that representative form of government, which was conceived by the founding fathers and which gave to the country the most outstanding men in history."

"If this amendment is adopted the two political parties of Ohio are going back into business again and group government is going to end. That is why I am for it. What the people do with it is of no personal concern to me. They can take it or leave it. Sooner or later you will adopt this or some other measure like it. The state cannot much longer go on as it is, and before the remedy can be applied, the disease must be removed, and what I have said to you here today will be the sentiment of the state even if this measure now fails."

DE MOLAYS TO GIVE TO ENDOWMENT AFTER JAN. 1

Marion's contribution to the $1,000,000 educational endowment fund for members of the Order of DeMolay, which is to be raised in a nation-wide campaign, is not likely to be made until after Jan. 1, according to a statement made today by Charles H. Conley, Marion attorney who was recently appointed as a member of the state committee to manage the campaign in Ohio. According to the plan under way, it is proposed to obtain the fund within the next year.

The money is to be used to provide college educations for members of the Order of DeMolay who lack the necessary financial resources. This aid is to be extended in the form of loans which the young men will pay back after their education is completed and they have become established in their chosen business or profession.

While no steps have been taken as yet to raise Marion's quota, there is assurance of numerous contributions, Mr. Conley states, several citizens having voluntarily offered to donate sums of substantial proportions.

The Order of DeMolay is a branch of the Masonic Order, the membership consisting largely of boys of high school age.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT, IS FIERY, ITCHY OR ROUGH, USE SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.—Adv.

WATER SOFTENER PLANS PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

Complete Details Will Be Completed in Few Weeks, Whysall Says

The engineering department of the Marion Water Co. is making rapid progress with plans for the water softening system to be installed next year, George H. Whysall, general manager of the company, stated today. Complete details of the plans will be perfected within a few weeks and are to be made public at that time, Mr. Whysall says.

The softening system is to be of the most modern type, thoroughly tested in other communities, that will make city water hot suitable for all domestic and commercial use, but at the same time will not detract from its qualities for drinking purposes. Marion's city water has always ranked among the best in the state in respect to flavor and utmost care will be taken to preserve this quality.

To Function at Plant

The water softening process will function at the plant, two miles west of the city, and no changes or additions to the service lines will be necessary.

When the new system is in operation, Marion's city water will be only a few degrees harder than rain water, making it in every way satisfactory for laundry use. As a result of this change, installation of cisterns and plumbing for supplying residences with both hard and soft water will not be necessary in future building construction. It is estimated that this will reduce the cost of building an ordinary six room dwelling approximately $150.

Recreational League Dinner Friday at Wesley Church

To Present Osgoods With Appropriate Trophy Cup as Loop Championship Emblem

Rev. Alfred W. Swan To Deliver Principal Address and Act as Toastmaster; Individual League Winners To Receive Pennants

ARRANGEMENTS are being made to accommodate approximately 125 players, officials and guests at the second annual Recreation League banquet which will be held in the Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church, Olney-av, Friday night at seven o'clock, according to announcements made today by Attorney John H. Clark, member of the banquet committee. Tickets were placed last week with the managers of each team in the four leagues which played during the season just closed.

The outstanding feature of the program following the serving of the dinner will be the presentation of the championship cup, furnished by the A. G. Spaulding Brothers Athletic Co., to the Osgood Co. team, successful entry in the Little World's series held at the close of the season.

Attorney Clark will represent the league commission in presenting the cup, which has been appropriately engraved.

The principal address of the evening will be made by Rev. Alfred W. Swan, who will also act as toastmaster of the evening. Rev. Swan was an ardent follower of the sport during the entire season and played regularly at second base on the Forest Lawn Presbyterian church team. Other speakers have been procured and arrangements have been made to have music during the banquet hour.

To Present Pennants

In addition to the presentation of the championship trophy to the Osgood team, individualleague winners will be given pennants. This award will be made to the following team: Osgoods, as champions of the industrial league; Epworth Methodist Sunday School Team No. 1, champions of the Sunday School League; Railway Service Co., champions of the Transportation League; Y. M. C. A. Business Men's club, champions of the Commercial League.

Presentation of the pennants will be made by the managers of the runner-up team to the champions' manager in their respective leagues.

The banquet Friday will be the second which recreation ball players will have attended this year. Preceding the opening of the season's play, 150 officials and players gathered at the Wesley M. E. Church.

FIGHTERS THROWN OUT OF RING BY REFEREE

Chicago, Oct. 28—Pete Sarmiento and Jimmy McDermott, who were thrown out of the ring by Referee Davey Miller for their poor showing in the windup bout at Johnny Conlon's show Monday night, today stand suspended.

The Illinois State Athletic Commission banned the two fighters for six months following an investigation of Monday night's fiasco.

Sarmiento was fined $500 by the commission and McDermott will forfeit $166.67. The fines, it is said, represent one-third of the boxers' purse.

TWO GRID GAMES ON N. C. O. MENU

Harding Goes to Bucyrus, Shelby Team Meets Ashland

Only two grid battles are scheduled for the North Central Ohio Athletic League Saturday.

Harding High is booked to meet Bucyrus on the latter's field and Shelby is booked to tie up with Ashland on the Ashland gridiron.

With Bucyrus in third place with two victories and a single defeat and Shelby second from the top of the league with two wins and no defeats, the outcome of the games Saturday may materially effect the league standing.

If Shelby defeats Ashland, it goes into a tie for first place with Mansfield, each then being credited with three victories and no downfalls. Shelby at present is tied with Mansfield in the present percentage column but has played only two games while Mansfield has met three opponents of the league. Mansfield will not participate in a league game Saturday.

The Harding-Bucyrus battle is one of the most important scheduled for the league. With only one defeat and two victories, Bucyrus still is making a strong bid for the leadership of the league. If the Crawford County boys are on the short end of the score Saturday, their chances for the pennant are slim. But if they win, they will, continue to worry Shelby and Mansfield.

In the event that Shelby should lose and Bucyrus come out on top, Bucyrus will be perched in second place with three triumphs and a single defeat, looking down upon Shelby in third place with only two victories and a defeat.

HOW THEY STAND IN N. C. O. LEAGUE

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Mansfield	3	0	1.000
Shelby	2	0	1.000
Bucyrus	2	1	.667
Ashland	1	2	.333

55,000 PERSONS TO SEE COLUMBIA-CORNELL GAME

New York, Oct. 28—Intercollegiate football reached the high water mark of its popularity here when it was announced today that 55,000 would see Columbia and Cornell meet at the Polo Grounds on Saturday.

A throng of 75,000 probably will be present when the Army and Notre Dame clash at the Yankee Stadium on Nov. 13. The New York Yankees placed 10,000 seats on sale yesterday and all of them were disposed of before nightfall.

CENTRAL JUNIOR HIGH BASKETEERS HOLD PRACTICES

Coaches Expect To Develop Strong Team This Season

A program of regular practice sessions is being carried out at the Central High School gym in preparation for the coming basketball season.

A score of candidates remain of the 40 that reported for the first practice last week. Coach Cecil Gabler, who has previously directed the play of the Central Junior basketeers, is being assisted in the work this year by Thomas Duncan, instructor of History at the school. Gabler engaged in intra-mural athletics while a student at Ohio Wesleyan university. Duncan attended the University of Michigan.

Principal W. E. Orcutt discussing the prospects for the team stated that the coaching staff feels that the outlook is for a stronger outfit than represented the school last season, when Central Junior won championship honors in the Class B tournament conducted at the Y. M. C. A. and turned in two victories over Vernon Heights Junior High, a deadly rival.

Differing from the policies followed in past years, an attempt will be made to secure a full schedule of games for the Central team in advance of the season. Principal Orcutt is now in position to establish two-game arrangements with Freshman teams, 15-year-old teams or Class B high school teams of the county. In event of the arrangement of the schedule, season tickets are to be offered to members of the student body.

TUNNEY DOESN'T LIKE EDICT OF COMMISSIONER

Pittsburgh, Oct. 28—Gene Tunney does not take kindly to the edict of Commissioner James Farley, of the New York State Athletic Commission, that he defend the heavyweight championship within six months after winning it from Jack Dempsey, he made it known today as he left for New York to be a guest of the American Legion at a banquet tomorrow night.

The new champion, here to attend the funeral of Harry Greb, ex-middleweight champion, indicated that his next bout will be staged either in the Sesqui-Centennial Stadium at Philadelphia, where he defeated Dempsey, or in Soldiers' Memorial Stadium in Chicago.

"If Jack Dempsey defeats the winner of an elimination tournament being conducted by Promoter Tex Rickard, I'll be glad to give him another crack at the title," Tunney said.

Next week, Tunney will consider a score of business offers, he said, one of which is an offer to make a vaudeville tour.

PENNSYLVANIA READY TO BATTLE ILLINI

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 28—Forty members of the varsity squad at the University of Pennsylvania were to leave today for Champaign, Ill., the scene of their intersectional battle with Illinois on Saturday, a game that practically will decide Penn's fate for the season of 1926.

Illinois broke Penn's winning streak last year by running up a 21 to 2 score, thanks to Grange.

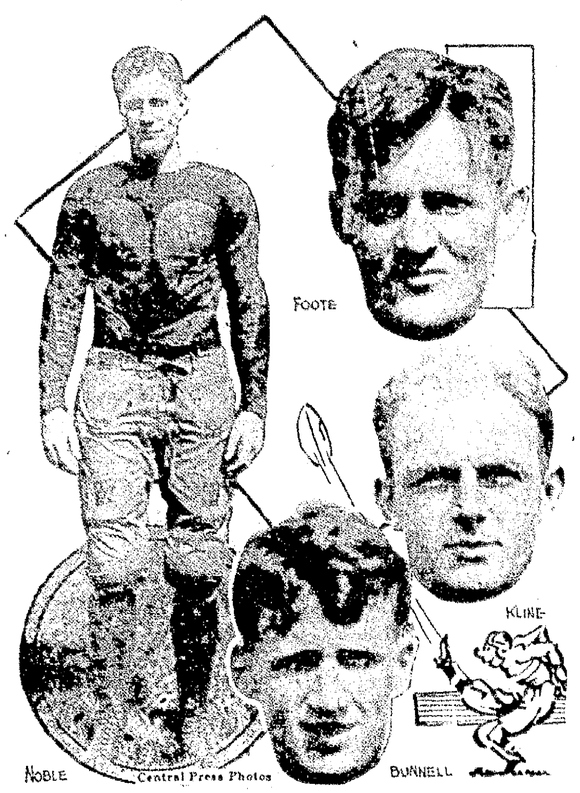
Charley Rogers, the ailing backfield star, was to be a member of the party, but the likelihood was that Pastor Fields would start the game in his place.

Twenty-four members of the scrub team also were to be taken along as a reward for their efforts.

RUETHER SOON TO BE UP

New York, Oct. 28—Dutch Ruether, veteran Yankee southpaw, is recovering in a Brooklyn hospital from a recent operation for intestinal trouble. He is expected to leave the hospital within a week.

JONES MUST BOLSTER YALE'S LINE



Yale starts intensive training for the "Big Three" games with the knowledge that, although it still ranks as the most powerful of the three and one of the strongest teams in the east it is lacking in one department—an impregnable line. Dartmouth and Brown (the former beaten by Harvard) have shoved their way through the Blue line. Photos show four stars of Yale's backfield.

MIDDIES SET TO HALT FRIEDMAN'S AERIAL WORK

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 28—The entire Naval Academy was keyed up today to the problem of stopping Benny Friedman's passing game and the plunging of Molenda when the Navy meets Michigan on Saturday. Inspired by the return of Shapley, star back, the Navy varsity has been roused to a fighting pitch and is determined to avenge the 54 to 0 disaster at Ann Arbor last year. Shapley will be thrust into the game whenever it appears that the Navy has a chance to score.

The starting backfield, however, probably will be Hannegan, quarterback; Scicaber and Ransford, halfbacks, and Hamilton, fullback.

MICHIGAN LEAVES TODAY FOR GAME WITH MIDDIES

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 28—Thirty-four football men, representing Michigan's threat to eastern intersectional supremacy, will leave this afternoon for Baltimore, Md., to engage the United States Naval Academy eleven Saturday.

All of the squad members and coaches will be presented to President Coolidge Friday night.

"Michigan realizes that it is meeting a much better team than last year," said Yost, "and the Michigan team is not as strong as last year."

RICKARD PLANS HEAVY CAMPAIGN

Dempsey To Meet Three Opponents During Next Year

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, Oct. 28—There will be plenty of boxes on the heavyweight hoof doing their back and wing for beat diversion within the ensuing 10 months and Jack Dempsey will be in there elevating the instep with the best or the worst of them.

This is the deep, conniving plan of Tex Rickard, as outlined to the writer today for the greatest heavyweight campaign in the history of boxing. Before he is through, Mr. Rickard will have approximately $2,500,000 of the customers' money.

The main idea is to build Dempsey back to where he was in 1919. Dempsey, as I understand it, will take part in possibly three matches before October, next, and one of them will be with Gene Tunney, the man who made him what he is today.

The first victim, or maybe the next champion for all I know, will be Harry Persson, the Swede with a bald head and a general idea. Rickard says Persson is the best looking prospect among the heavyweight contenders.

If and provided John gets by this hombre, the next opponent will be either Jim Maloney or Jack Sharkey. This will be an outdoor shot, if it is held at all. So will any bout involving Dempsey and Berlenbach. All of three gentemen have ideas and they run into thousands.

Dempsey is scheduled to return to California next week to take stock of himself and see what he has. He says he will quit the ring if he finds he can't fight as he once did. That is plain, unadorned and unpalatable bunk, for the fighter glooms't live who thinks he can't fight even at the age of 90. Dempsey will be back. So will the customers. More power to both of them, meaning Dempsey and the customers. Unfortunately, there will be more than two customers.

DISPLAYMEN AND C., D. & M. TEAMS MATCH WINNERS

Six Teams from Business Women's Club Bowl at "Y"

Displaymen and the C. D. & M. bowlers were winners last night in the Y. M. C. A. Industrial League Bowling matches.

Although the C. D. & M. team took the first two games of the match with the Steam Shovel men, the latter came through in the last game and scored enough points over its opponents to be credited with a margin of six points in the total count of the three-game match.

Displaymen won three consecutive games from the Post Office bowlers, piling up a total number of points of 2,277 to their opponents' 2,039 in the three-game match.

Snyder was high man for the Steam Shovel in a single game, bowling 188. Boyd scored 180. Koons led C., D. & M. bowlers with 201 pins. Cookston was high scorer for the Postoffice team, being chalked up with 160 points in one game. McFarland led Displaymen with 197. His total score for the three-game match was 559.

In addition to the Industrial League games last night, six teams of the Marion Business Women's Club competed in three two-game matches.

Fetter's team won its first game but went down in defeat before Slagle's crew on the second try. The Rubicon team was victor in its first game with

DAD'S DAY CELEBRATION PLANNED AT ILLINOIS

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 28—Several thousand fathers of students attending the University of Illinois are expected to arrive here tomorrow to attend the annual dad's day celebration at the state institution.

The Pennsylvania Illinois football game on Saturday is the principal attraction.

Many special trains will be run here to accomodate the 40,000 visitors that are expected to witness the game.

KANSAS DRILLS NEW MEN

Manhattan, Kas., Oct. 28—In preparation for the game with Arkansas U. Saturday Coach Bachman is developing two backfield men to take the places of Holsinger and Enns, injured in the Oklahoma game last week. Hannaman and Sperrlick will probably be seen lugging the ball against the Razor Backs.

ASSERTS COLLEGE MEN DUMBBELLS

Columbus, Oct. 28—"Ninety per cent of the college students are dumbbells." Thus says Prof. Roderick Peattie of the department of geography of Ohio State University.

"Grade of 'A' is not sufficient reason for classifying students as intelligent persons," Prof. Peattie said. "Common sense and general culture make men intelligent.

"Some students come to college just to get a degree, but in a few years the degree will be forgotten and that person will be judged by what education he displays," the professor said in an address at fraternity scholarship exercises.

Management Hopes to Hold Matches Here Every Month Between Ring Topnotchers

Support of First Fistic Offering in November To Give Officials Final Decision; Negotiations with Lou Bloom and Sid Conn Reported Under Way

FIGHT SHOWS, which in years past have met uncertain support from Marion's ringside fans, will feature this winter's card of sport events being arranged by the Marion Athletic Association.

In an effort to boost boxing and create interest among luke-warm fans, the association this year is angling for some of the best fighters in the country, officials announced today.

Such men as Lou Bloom, Cabildon, and Sid Conn, Dayton, are among those whom the Association is hoping to secure for the local shows.

In the event the first show, scheduled for the middle of November, meets with the approval and support of Marion sport lovers, the association is planning to give at least one show a month during the winter season.

Sock Orpheum Theater

Negotiations are under way to obtain the Orpheum Theater in which to hold the exhibitions. Under this arrangement the association will be able, through reduced overhead, to make much more attractive offers to fighters.

The first show, which will see the best class of fighters ever assembled in a local ring, will be a trial affair. If it is able to win the support of Marion sportsters then similar shows will be held once a month.

If, on the other hand, this trial show does not prove to be the attraction the association officials expect it to be, the club, in all probability, will desert the season closed rather than schedule further bouts with mediocre fighters.

Officers Optimistic

Club officers, however, are very optimistic over the outcome of this year's arrangement, despite the fact the bouts in years past have been financially uncertain. On some of the attractions offered in recent years the association has broken even, on others it has lost.

Believing the public will respond to a first class entertainment the association is planning just such an affair. If it does not meet with the success club officials expect the association at least will know that it is not the class of fighters but the attitude of the public that needs to be changed.

Within the next week or 10 days officials of the club will meet to select the fighters for the first bouts. Consideration will be given men in whom Marionites are interested. Announcement of the card will follow the meeting.

CAGE MANAGERS TO HOLD MEETING

Session Scheduled at Star Auditorium To Organize League

Managers of at least eight Marion basketball quintets will meet at 7 o'clock tonight in the Star auditorium for the purpose of organizing the Marion Industrial Basketball League for the season of 1926-27.

Eight teams have made application to enter the league this season but it has been announced that only six squads may be accommodated.

It is certain that one new team will be seen in the association here during the coming season due to the withdrawal of the Marion Steam Shovel quintet from the league.

The six teams to have a place in the league and the schedule of the games during the coming season will probably be named at the meeting tonight.

TEAM THAT GETS BREAKS WILL WIN, SAY EXPERTS

Cleveland, Oct. 28—The team which gets the breaks and takes advantage of them will win Saturday's contest between Oberlin and Case here in the outstanding Ohio Conference clash, according to the gridiron experts. It will be a case of two teams attempting to conquer with the same style, the short pass. Case has particular need of this type of offensive tactics as her backfield is weak and her attack somewhat impotent.

Art Winters, assistant coach at Case, mastered the short pass while playing at Oberlin. For the last two seasons he has drilled this style into his pupils.

But Coach Savage, of Oberlin, has not let down in perfecting the play at his institution, hence an aerial contest is predicted.

While Case is attempting to master the contrende leading Oberlin team, Western Reserve will have its hands full with Cincinnati at Cleveland. Locke's men are said to have the edge in the early dope.

MANSFIELD PLAYER IS IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Springfield, Oct. 28—Homer McFadden, of Mansfield, sophomore in Wittenberg College, and star football player, was in critical condition in City Hospital here suffering of blood poisoning. Injuries received in games with Miami and Marietta aggravated the illness, according to attending physicians.

Chancey Braden Credits Tepee Herb Tonic With Restoring His Health

CHANCEY M. BRADEN

For two years Chancey M. Braden hadn't felt well. His appetite was off and day by day he kept steadily losing health. One day while he was feeling very bad a friend told him about Tepee Herb Tonic. Mr. Braden became so interested that he tried it.

Today he feels fine and one would never know that he ever suffered from dyspepsia and constipation.

Mr. Braden lives at 202 Susquehanna avenue, Parkersburg. He is an inspector at the Shovel Works. In regard to Tepee, he says:

"For two years I was troubled with constipation and indigestion. Everything I ate caused gas and bloating. Even a drink of water would sour on my stomach. My food lay heavy in my stomach and failed to digest.

"Almost every day I would have a headache and then would follow an attack of dizziness. My nerves were raw and the least extra work simply tired me out. I couldn't sleep soundly at night. I read about Tepee Herb Tonic in the newspapers. I decided to try it, and now, since giving it a thorough trial, I want to say that it is really wonderful.

"My stomach is in perfect condition and I can eat what I want without having indigestion. I sleep soundly. I am so much stronger that my work seems easier.

"I have not had a headache or an attack of dizziness for many days. I have a good appetite and enjoy my food. My bowels are regular.

"And best of all I have gained eleven pounds since the day I started on Tepee Herb Tonic."

Tepee Herb Tonic may be had in Marion at Bradley's, Heaney & Cooper's, Wm. M. Bishop, Bartlett's, and all drug stores; Richwood, H. D. Kyle. —Adv.

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping along over the fields and through the woods, looking for an adventure the rabbit gentleman saw Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boys with Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels, playing about on a flat rock near a grove of trees.

"Hello, Uncle Wiggily!" barked the dogs, while the squirrels chattered a greeting to Mr. Longears.

"Hello, boys!" answered the bunny. "What are you doing here? Why aren't you in school?"

"We were let out of school early," said Jackie.

"The Lady Mouse Teacher told us we could go because we all knew our lessons," added Billie.

"And what are you doing now?" asked Uncle Wiggily with a pink twinkle on the end of his nose. "Are you studying your lessons for tomorrow?"

"Oh I should say we aren't!" laughed Peetie. "No, indeed!"

"We are going to have some fun!" chattered Johnnie the squirrel. "We are going to make a blaze on this flat rock, for the rock there will be no danger of getting the dried leaves and the trees on fire."

"That is good and thoughtful," said Uncle Wiggily. "But you must also be careful not to burn yourselves. And when you have made your fire what are you going to do with it?"

"We are going to roast chestnuts in it," answered Johnnie. "See, we have a lot of them," and he showed his pocket filled with the brown nuts.

"Roast chestnuts!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "They ought to be very good."

"But we don't like them," said Jackie with a sad little bark. "I wish we had something to roast in the fire, Uncle Wiggily."

"Why don't you roast potatoes?" asked the bunny. "They will bake in the fire just as the chestnuts will roast. And baked potatoes are very good for puppy dogs to eat—that is if you wait until they cool a bit."

"Where could we get some potatoes to roast?" asked Peetie.

"I'll show you," answered Mr. Longears. He led the doggie boys to a field where, on the edge, were a few hills of potatoes the farmer had forgotten to dig. And, being buried beneath a pile of earth and leaves, the potatoes had not yet been touched by Jack Frost.

"Roast these in your fire," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'll hop around to look for an adventure, and when I come back I'll help you eat the potatoes. I have a little salt in my pocket to flavor them."

The bunny gentleman hopped away and the dog and squirrel boys made their fire, being careful to keep it on the rock which would not burn. When the embers were glowing red the squirrels put their chestnuts on to roast and the doggie boys laid their potatoes on the coals.

Soon the nuts began to sizzle and a delicious smell filled the air, as the potatoes started to brown. But, all of a sudden, there was a loud banging noise. Some of the fire embers were scattered and a lot of white flecks, like snow, scattered in the air, some hitting Jackie and Peetie and the squirrels.

"Oh! Let's run! A hunter is shooting his gun!" chattered Billie.

"He shot me in the eye!" shouted Peetie, wiping away some of the white stuff, which was soft and hot. "But it doesn't hurt much," he added. "Anyhow, let's run!"

More banging noises sounded around the fire, and as the animal boys started to run, along came hopping Uncle Wiggily.

"A hunter is shooting his gun!" barked Peetie.

"Nothing of the sort!" said Mr. Longears. "It's the roast potatoes that are bursting. I forgot to tell you to make some holes in them or to nip off the ends, to let the water inside them, which turns to steam in the heat, get out easily. I forgot to tell you this, and that's why your potatoes are bursting. You made some hole in the chestnuts you put on the fire, didn't you, Billie and Johnnie?"

"We are going to have some fun!" chattered Johnnie.

"Yes," chattered the squirrels, "we did. "But we didn't think about the potatoes."

"It is too late now to save those in the fire," said Mr. Longears, as a lot more potatoes burst. "But I'll get you some others, and in these we will punch holes for the steam to get out." When this had been done, the potatoes roasted nicely and were wonderfully good to eat with salt on. So everything came out all right. And if the automobile will wipe the mud off its tires when it comes in the house to go to sleep, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the doll's bed.

APPROACHING ELECTIONS AFFECT MARKET TODAY

Industrial Reports More Favorable Than Actions of Stocks

New York, Oct. 28—Industrial reports and developments were much more encouraging than the actions of leading individual stocks in the New York market today.

Though speculative sentiment became easily sensitive to a considerable impression that the shadow of the approaching elections long hoarded over the market, restricting outside participation in stocks and causing transactions largely to professional trading and the "evening up" of the commitments of the floor traders.

United States Steel, General Motors and a few other of the speculative favorites set a pace for activity and buoyancy which the market as a whole was unable to follow. Today's buying took place at a slight advance over Wednesday's closing prices. But liquidation and short selling was equally persistent in Hudson Motors and several of the industrial shares which have been under more than the usual selling pressure in recent sessions.

The American Railway Association reported a glowing report of traffic in which the volume of freight exceeded conditions for the week ended Oct. 16, 1,260,000 cars for the first time in history. In spite of the large output of auto cars and trucks in the first half of the year, dispatches from the auto centers today indicated that plant operations would be speeded up in November and December in order to meet the requirements of the distributive trade.

FERDINAND OF ROUMANIA NEAR DEATH, REPORT

Carol's Household Makes Denial of News, However; Politics Seen

Berlin, Oct. 28—The condition of King Ferdinand of Roumania has taken a sudden turn for the worse, and his death may be expected at any time, according to a dispatch today to the Lokal Anzeiger from its Bucharest correspondent.

This news, coming on the heels of the controversy over the reported request from the Bucharest foreign office for Queen Marie to cancel her American tour and return home immediately, revived speculation as to the length of the queen's sojourn in the United States.

It has been known that the king has been suffering for some time from nervous trouble, but it had not been intimated that his condition was critical.

Reports Denied

The Lokal Anzeiger report is contrary to reports which have been received from other sources, which would indicate that King Ferdinand's condition is not critical. From the Roumanian foreign office and from the spokesmen for Queen Marie in this country, there have come repeated warnings that sensational rumors purporting to come from Bucharest should be discounted.

The first report that King Ferdinand had exhibit Queen Marie to come home were officially denied. A later report was circulated, for which there is no apparent foundation, that the queen's physicians had ordered her home.

Now comes the report of the critical illness of King Ferdinand, which is received by a single European newspaper and is as yet unconfirmed from other sources.

In the light of all these conflicting rumors, and realizing that Queen Marie's American tour is a matter for political bickering, in Roumania, it seems that the Lokal Anzeiger report should be received with reserve.

CONDITION SERIOUS, SAYS VIENNA PRESS

Vienna, Oct. 28—The condition of King Ferdinand of Roumania is serious, and Prince Carol, who renounced his rights to the throne, has been summoned to the king's bedside, according to dispatches published in the local press.

KLAN INDORSED JAMES WATSON, WITNESS SAYS

Former K. K. K. Organizer on Stand in Reed's Slush Fund Inquiry

Federal Building, St. Louis, Oct. 28—A new story of a political deal by which the Ku Klux Klan of Indiana indorsed Senator James E. Watson, Republican, of Indiana, for the vice presidency in 1924 because the Hoosier senator had aided the Klan, he said, Senator Earle B. Mayfield, Democrat, of Texas, was told today by George Meyers, former klan organizer before Senator James A. Reed, Democrat, of Missouri, at the resumption of the slush fund inquiry into the Indiana senatorial campaign.

Sweeping Watson deeper than ever into the political machinations of the Klan, Meyers said leaders of the hooded organization had ordered the indorsement of the Indiana senator because "the klan was under an obligation to him."

Meyers also drew the name of William F. Zumbrunn, general counsel of the inquiry. Zumbrunn's duties in Washington, he said, consisted partly of enacting legislation favorable to the klan and "partly in seating senators."

Tells of Trip

Another amazing story of klan activities was told by James V. Boien, former klan secretary of state in Indiana, who described a delegation of klansmen took the records of Indianapolis and Evansville to Washington to get the approval of Imperial Wizard Hiram W. Evans on local appointments. The trip was taken on klan funds, he added, chiefly to get Evans to approve the appointment of Charles J. Orbison, a Democrat, as corporation counsel of Indianapolis to Mayor John L. Duvall, a Republican. Duvall was one of the party.

The same trip also was described by Meyers who said the klansmen met in the office of Senator Watson while in Washington.

"Reed Hearing"

In a race against time, Senator Reed resumed his one-man slush inquiry today for the purpose of revealing the truth about the Ku Klux Klan's activities in American senatorial elections.

With eight witnesses, chiefly former klansmen, under subpena, Reed hoped to prove the truth or falsity of stories that Senator James E. Watson, Republican, of Indiana, participated in the management of the klan and used the hooded order to further his own political aspirations to remain in the senate.

Reed desired to establish the facts about Watson's connection with the klan in time for the Indiana electorate to use the information before proceeding to the polls next Tuesday.

Woman Disappears

Considerable mystery, meanwhile, shrouded the disappearance of Mrs. Vivian Tracy Wheatcraft, vice chairman of the Indiana Republican state committee, from the Liberty Hospital here, where she was under subpena to appear as a witness before the Reed committe. Her husband, Bruce Wheatcraft, swore under oath Monday that she was too ill to testify and that her removal from the hospital would endanger her life.

The woman was spirited out of the hospital some time yesterday, presumably into an automobile that hurried her out of St. Louis. She was subpenaed to explain newspaper stories that she had conducted a "poison squad" of women to help Senator Watson to victory by gossip in the last primary.

"Very Significant", Claim

Newspapers in Baltimore and Indianapolis based their stories about the "poison squad" on an interview with Mrs. Wheatcraft. Reed announced he would let the United States marshal handle the woman's disappearance. He said he had "serious doubts" Monday over the reports of her illness and that he considered "her sudden disappearance very significant." He added that he did not intend to take any personal steps to force her to testify.

Among those summoned as witnesses for today's session were:

Mayor John L. Duval, of Indianapolis; Mayor Herbert Males, of Evansville, Ind.; James V. Boien, the klan's secretary of state in Indiana; Walter F. Bossert, former grand dragon of Ind.; George Myers, a former Indianapolis klansman; the Rev. A. P. Rem, of North Vernon, Ind.; Milton Elfred, former editor of the "Fiery Cross", a klan publication, and Marcus Winnings, of Ellwood, Ind.

Probe Bradford Testimony

Four of these witnesses were called to corroborate or disprove the testimony of Ralph B. Bradford, a Crown Point, Ind., klansman that Senator Watson had attended a conference of klan leaders in Washington, which resulted in the resignation of Bossert as grand dragon because the latter would not support the senator. Bradford said both Bossert and Boien had told him that Watson attended this conference over which Imperial Wizard Hiram W. Evans presided, and that Duvall and Males also were present. The other witnesses were subpenaed by Reed a a result of statements issued by Senator Watson that he had no agreement of any sort with the klan and was not a klan candidate for the senate.

"I want to remove these stories from the domain of hearsay or show they were unfounded," was Reed's only comment.

The Japanese consider American ballroom dancing immoral.

8,000 WON'T SEE GAME

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 28—The ticket allotment to the Navy for the Army-Navy game in Chicago on Nov. 27 has been oversubscribed by 8,000 tickets. The number of tickets allotted was 30,000. The demand is the greatest for any football contest between the two service institutions.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 28—Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball, is in Southern California for a week of rest. Landis said his trip had nothing to do with baseball, and plenty of golf was his only objective.

When your child has Croup

IN cases of spasmodic croup or kiddies' colds, the child's suffering and your anxiety will find quick relief through the soothing, healing, medicated vapors of Vicks VapoRub.

When Vicks is rubbed over throat and chest at bedtime it acts in two ways at once:—

(1) It is vaporized by the body heat and inhaled direct to the inflamed air passages and lungs, loosening the phlegm and easing the cough; and

(2) At the same time it warms and stimulates the skin like a poultice, "drawing out" the soreness and pain.

Colds are usually better by morning and croup is often relieved with one application.

COSTIVE BOWELS, HEADACHE, COLDS TAKE "CASCARETS"

No Headache, Sour Stomach, Bad Cold or Constipation by morning

Get a 10-cent box now.

Furred Tongue, Bad Colds, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good gentle cleansing, too.—Adv.
